Deficit could reach $1 million this year

Mayor, aides start campaign calling for water rate increase

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

In an unprecedented move, administrators in Romulus are "going to the newspapers" in an effort to embarrass the Romulus City Council into increasing water rates nearly double the present rates charged by the city.

Two administrative spokesmen, who claim "the council will probably know who we are, but we don't want our names printed," said that Mayor James C. Stewart has asked them to detail the reasons why the city council must raise rates to water users to cover costs.

"We're in a deficit situation now," said a spokesperson from the Romulus finance department. "If we wait longer the city will have to subsidize the operation of the department, because we collect less now in water rates than we are charged by the City of Detroit for the water."

"The rate question has impact on the community, because without the increase, we won't be able to expand the system, and there is much vacant land in Romulus in need of water and sewer service.

"It's not good economics to delay an increase."

The water system has been in a dangerous situation since 1973, according to a spokesman from the water department. That year, a deficit in excess of $400,000 was discovered by city auditors.

"The following year the deficit was in excess of $600,000, according to the water department source."

"We've been attempting for quite some time to get the rates increased, but we run into politics, the spokesman said."

"This isn't a situation which calls for politics, but some common sense," according to the spokesman. "That's why we're taking this step—to get the matter out of politics."

The gist of the attempt by the administrators is to increase rates to water consumers to better reflect the costs of operating the system.

Both indicated they felt they had a workable increase proposal ready during the Terry L. Troutt administration, however the Romulus City Council did not take action on Troutt's comprehensive plan to cover the cost of the debt incurred in constructing the system and costs charged to operate the system.

Included in that plan was a suggestion to raise the costs of "tap-ins" to the water and sewer system—a traditional way to cover the costs of expansion and debt on initial construction of the system—and a rate increase to cover the costs or purchasing water and maintenance.

Under the plan now before the council, the total costs will be covered by a rate increase.

This year's budget approved by the Romulus City Council shows only a slight deficit in the water department, since the finance and water departments projected the water rate increase into the budget before the council approved the boost, according to the finance department spokesperson.

"But, if we don't get approval of an increase now, our deficit could exceed $1 million this year," the spokesperson said. "We started an audit Monday to learn details of the impact on the system."

Both spokespersons indicated they felt they had a water rate increase approval when the Romulus City Council gave the first approval to a rate increase at a special meeting Aug. 19.

Under council procedure, amendments to the water code must be approved in a two-step process, with a first reading of the proposal followed by a final reading scheduled for a later date.

At the time of the final reading on the water rate increase approval, three of five councilmembers who voted to introduce the matter for discussion changed their vote.

No sessions were held between the council and the administration from the time of the initial reading of the proposal Aug. 19, and the time scheduled for adoption of the matter Aug. 31.

Beverly McAnally, the only councilperson who voted against both the initial reading and the final proposal, said her concern in the matter was "fairness to the citizens of Romulus."

"We're in a situation where rates are increased to Romulus, and residents are being charged an increase to cover not only the costs of the water and the maintenance of the system, but also the expansion of the system," Mrs. McAnally said. "There hasn't been enough open discussion on the matter to satisfy me, and I'm hoping my colleagues on the council feel the same, she said, adding:

"If rates are to be increased, they should be increased for all people who have use of the system—including developers who will be tapping into the system in the future."

"A comprehensive proposal would call for a water rate increase to cover the rising costs of water and an increase in fees charged to people who will be tapping into water sources in the future."

"It's my feeling that the citizens of Romulus have been paying for the construction of the water system for the past 20 years under bonding proposals, and its way past the time when new customers should assume some of the construction burden in the form of increased tap-in fees."

"We have no proposal to increase the charge for taps, just a plan to increase the charge to present users of the system who have been paying the cost of construction all these years."

"My question is, if we are to be worried about expanding the system today—at the expense of the current consumers—why weren't we concerned during the past 20 years, when funds were available for that work under the bonding proposals?"

Drive for millage approval under way

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Up of 50 residents described a spirited group of concerned citizens who gathered on what they area re... for the operations of the Romulus Community School District.

Terrell LeCesne, coordinator of the campaign to win approval of the tax increase proposal that will be placed on the Sept. 13 school election ballot, informed the residents that "time was of the essence" in distributing information detailing the need for the millage.

"Romulus Schools have made steady progress in the last several years," LeCesne informed the committee members. "But the recent cuts have caused serious setbacks in the children's educational program."

"The fact that 92 positions were eliminated, the students' school day shortened by one hour and many programs and services curtailed or eliminated, is cause for concern."

The need for the millage was dictated last year when the Michigan State Legislature implemented the new "single business Tax" law which eliminated consideration of personal property value from computing taxes in school districts.

The effect of the law change was to reduce the average "worth" of one mill for school operations in the Romulus School District from the 1974-75 level of $227,000 to $196,000.

A special section in the law which was to compensate for the reduction of taxable income hasn't upgraded the district's total income enough to make up for the losses.

District personnel maintain that the increase is needed to maintain the present programs.

At the meeting, David Ferdun, a resident of the city and a member of the Romulus Education Association informed the concerned citizens they should "emphasize the positive" concerning the millage campaign. Ferdun was elected chairman of the group, which assumed the name "Concerned Citizens for Kids."

"I think it is important to point out that residents in this community are receiving $4 in benefits for every $1 in taxes they pay," Ferdun said. "Industry pays 75 percent of the taxes in Romulus, so every dollar we spend is tripled in 'worth' of educational services."

The Concerned Citizens' plan of attack includes holding neighborhood coffee "klatches" to discuss the millage and its need, two mailings with the postage costs to be covered by the Romulus Education Association, a motorcade and a "get out the vote" campaign.

A special "Town Hall"-type meeting has been called for tomorrow at the Romulus High School to discuss the millage and to answer questions concerning it.

Set for 7 p.m., the session will feature an open discussion involving the full Romulus Board of Education and Supt. James Garfield.

TERRELL LECESNE

Romulus schools open on schedule

Classes are in session in the Romulus School District even though agreement has not been reached on a teachers' contract between the Romulus Board of Education and the Romulus Education Association (REA).

According to James Hart, administrative officer for the REA, the contract between the teachers and the board has been extended on a "day-to-day" basis with either side having the option to cancel the agreement on 24-hour notice.

"The teachers are willing to bargain on in the hopes of obtaining a fair and equitable settlement," Hart said.

"All the non-economics, including class size limits, have been ironed out, and now the teachers are discussing such economics as salary and fringe benefits."

Romulus teachers achieved what they said was a "fair" one-year contract settlement in March of this year after extending that contract which expired in September 1975 on a day-to-day basis for nearly eight months.

where youngsters utilizing the facility have been caught throwing stones at nearby homes."

"We'd like to avoid a similar situation by having our homes set-back from the Cogswell Park before it is constructed."

According to Stewart, the residents were illegally promised the land in a "give-away" during the last Romulus city elections.

At a meeting of the Romulus City Council, Stewart said former Mayor Terry L. Troutt had made the promise prior to Stewart defeating Troutt by a bare five vote margin in a controversial and hotly contested race in 1975.

Mrs. Prybyla contradicted Stewart's statements, which were carried in last week's Romulus Roman, stating, "We were never promised a 'donation' of land, and never requested such a donation."

"What we discussed was either a trade of land or the outright purchase of either the park land or a fence to be erected in the park, to ensure our homes are set back from the activity area of the park."

Troutt, in an interview last week, said: "It's illegal for any city official to give land away so I couldn't have done what he said in the first place."

"I see a situation where once again the people who ran the city in the past are blamed for problems created by the people now in office," he said.

"The citizens will see through that soon enough," Troutt added.

"We've been told by Stewart that there will be a 'greenbelt' between our homes and the park," said Mrs.

Prybyla. "But, who's he trying to kid—a greenbelt is used as a park for picnicking and playing."

"There is no set-back from our property."

In some cases, porches on homes along Walnut Street are a bare 10 feet from the rear lot line which would abut the Cogswell Road Park.

In his statement last week, Stewart maintained that the residents were going to upset plans to build the park if they didn't back down on their request for what he termed a "donation" of city land to them.

At a meeting before the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Stewart accused the residents of "carrying on an old political vendetta" to embarrass him.

Mrs. Prybyla described the mayor's appearance before the DNR as "embarrassing to the citizens of Romulus" and termed his report on the meeting "a distortion of what happened."

Last week Stewart informed the Romulus Roman that the DNR needed an approval of a request for a park grant "or we'll lose the park."

Mrs. Prybyla said that the DNR had indicated that the city could extend its claim to the funds up to one year by formalizing a request to extend the application to the DNR prior to Nov. 1.

"The whole argument is ludicrous," Mrs. Prybyla said. "First of all, the mayor has indicated that the city will lose the park without the $61,000 grant—but that grant is only part of a projected $306,000 construction project, in which the city picks up the remaining costs.

"Second of all, the mayor indicated that he was including a lighted little league ball diamond in the park plan, and our concerns about the set-backs would force the city to cancel those plans—but the little league doesn't play ball at night, and has no need for lighted fields."

"On top of it, the mayor said we want free land, and the DNR wouldn't allow it," she said. "Actually the DNR said the plan could be implemented if we agreed to purchase a parcel equal to the area we'd take in as a set-back and donate that land to the city, which we want to do."

"We're looking for sites now, where we may be able to purchase land by a city park, to ensure that recreation wouldn't suffer."

"Through this all, we've been subject to verbal abuse by the mayor, and distortions which make us look like a lot of people who are against progress in the city."

"In reality, we'd simply like to protect our homes from potential problems in the park, and have made plans to ensure that the city wouldn't suffer only to face opposition by the mayor."

"I voted for Jim Stewart in the last election—but following this, I'm kind of embarrassed to admit it."

"I only wish I had known then what I know now before I cast my ballot."

Residents rebut Stewart

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

A Romulus resident whose home abuts a proposed 13-acre city park on Cogswell Road said she is not trying to hold up progress in the city but is "trying to protect my home from problems encountered in other parks."

Midge Prybyla, whose husband is the spokesman for residents on Walnut Street owning 18 homes abutting the proposed Cogswell Park, said the residents aren't looking for a "donation of land" as Mayor James C. Stewart stated in last week's Romulus Roman, but that they are "willing to cover the costs of providing us with a sufficient set-back from the park to protect us from the problems encountered at the Merriman School Park."

Mrs. Prybyla said the residents had worked out a plan with members of the Terry L. Troutt administration and the Romulus City Council in 1975 to participate in a Michigan Department of Natural Resources-approved plan to "trade" land with the city to save a $61,000 state recreation grant and still provide the residents with a requested 25-foot set-back from Cogswell Park.

"Residents were in agreement either to gather funds together to purchase a 7-acre parcel of land adjacent to the proposed city park, or to purchase a fence to ensure that our homes are set back from the activity areas of the park," Mrs. Prybyla said. "We know of the problems at the Merriman Park

Perform at church

The King's Choristers, eight students from the Grand Rapids School of the Bible and Music, will present a musical concert at 6 p.m. Sunday at the Bethany Baptist Church of Belleville. The music of the Choristers is designed to fulfill the concept of relating to God in a positive manner, a spokesman for the school said. The group's repertoire includes hymns, gospel songs and spirituals. There will be no admission charge for the evening concert, and the program is open to the public. The church is located at 810 E. Huron River Drive.

For fall session

Center offers karate, yoga

Milton Center, located at 1771 Henry Ruff Road in Inkster, will be the site of two college credit classes offered by Wayne County Community College.

Hatha Yoga and introduction to karate will be among the classes offered by the college during its fall session.

Yoga instruction, providing the techniques and posture of the exercise, will be offered for six weeks from Sept. 30 to Nov. 11 on Thursday evenings from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The class will cost $15.50 and provide one hour of college credit.

Introduction to karate will be offered from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays Sept. 29 through Nov. 17 and will provide instruction in the knowledge and practice of Korean karate. That class will cost $13 and will be worth one credit hour.

Mail registration for those two programs and others being offered through the community college runs until Sept. 17.

Residents seeking further information about the classes can contact the college at 832-4750 or write its Office of Community Services, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit 48201.

The courses are being offered through its community services program.

Next Wednesday the lineup will be spaghetti with cheese and tomato sauce or Italian veal cutlet, tossed salad, bread and butter, pudding and milk, with hot turkey sandwiches, mashed potatoes and gravy, vegetable, cranberry sauce, cake and milk slated for next Thursday.

Topping off the week will be juice, tuna salad hoagie, tator tots, cole slaw, cookies and milk.

The B selections for next week will be double burgers with cheese Monday, melted cheese and ham on buns Tuesday, Coney Island footlong hot dogs next Wednesday, Belleville burgers with cheese next Thursday and steak on hoagie buns with lettuce and tomatoes next Friday.

Rep. Ford seeks lowering of lakes

The congressman from Michigan's 15th District has submitted a proposal to the national legislature which would call for the lowering of the Great Lakes to protect shore areas in his district.

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) has co-sponsored a bill which would authorize a 5-year demonstration project calling for increased outflow from Lake Michigan at Chicago during high water level periods.

Under the proposal, water in the Great Lakes would be diverted through existing waterways to the Mississippi River to relieve water level problems in Michigan and other states bounded by the Great Lakes.

Ford, vice-chairman of the Conference of Great Lakes Congressmen, is pushing for the legislation to help solve the problems of flooding and shoreline erosion on the lakes.

Ford said the diversion plan and resulting water levels would be of special importance to persons living along the lower Detroit River area including Gibraltar, Brownstown, Rockwood and Trenton.

District broadens adult ed program

Romulus residents will find their selections in education broadened in this year's adult education program offered by the Romulus School District.

In response to student requests, the Adult Education program will offer an "Introduction to Medical Careers" between 3-5 p.m. Monday and Wednesday afternoons.

The course is scheduled to meet at the Romulus Senior High School Medical Technology Laboratory, with instruction by Robert Brock. Medical skills such as the EKG, X-ray, respiratory therapy and studies such as LPN and RN and nurse's aid responsibilities will be discussed in the class.

The course is offered free to adults who have not finished high school.

"Job Finding" skills will be outlined and taught as part of the curriculum by Cathy Ward, high school placement director.

Topics to be included in the discussion are applications, interviews, resumes, sources of employment and careers.

This class also is offered free to non-graduates.

Women's Perspectives is a new class offered during the morning schedule which will center on the challenges and achievements of women.

Visiting lecturers will talk with class members about their lives and careers from a woman's point of view.

In the offering of hobby classes, the continuing education program will not be caught short on the latest craze with the class "Ten-four...good buddy" — a class on the proper selection, installation and use of citizen band radios.

Another new hobby class is entitled "Home of the Whoppers" — a class on fishing.

In addition, a dog obedience class will be offered on the training of large and small breed pets.

Registration for adult education is continuing now.

Information on the program can be obtained by calling the Romulus Board of Education Offices at 941-1600.

Upgraded skills

Students such as this enrollee in the Romulus Adult Education Program can learn improved job skills while earning credits toward high school diplomas in the program, offered through Romulus Continuing Education. Included in the offerings are such classes as small engine repair or medical careers. Information on the program can be obtained by calling Continuing Education at 941-1600.

Residents to test skills

Van Buren slates Pat Cullin tennis tourney

Area residents will have an opportunity to display their tennis skills and maybe receive some recognition, during the Pat Cullin Open Tennis Tournament, scheduled for Sept. 18-19.

Held in honor of the Democratic candidate for Van Buren Township's supervisor's post, the tennis tournament will pit players against each other based on their relative skills.

"We intend to allow players to list themselves according to skills, either in an 'A' or 'B' seed," explained Carol Primo, tournament coordinator. "This is open to all area residents of 18 years of age or older."

The tournament will be held at the Lemontree Apartment Complex in Van Buren Township.

Entry fees are $1 per person to cover the costs of the tournament.

"This is strictly a non-profit event for tennis lovers," explained Mrs. Primo. "Money collected as part of the tournament will not be used in political campaigns, but to defray the cost of trophies."

Trophies will be awarded in each seed in both singles and doubles competition for men and women.

To enter, a player should list his name, address and phone number on a card on letter to be mailed to "tournament, 47818 W. Huron River Drive, Belleville 48111. The entry deadline is Sept. 16.

Information on the tournament can be obtained by calling the Lemontree Apartment Complex manager's office at 697-9156.

According to Mrs. Primo, a 62-year-old Van Buren woman intends to enter the tournament "and stands a good chance to win."

The tournament is open to residents of all area communities, including Romulus, Belleville and Huron and Sumpter townships.

The Romulus Senior Citizens' Charter Club One was honored with a free luncheon courtesy of the Hilton Inn of Romulus.

The club was honored on its 10th Anniversary Aug. 25 with 125-free lunches and a free room by Manager Ray Uhlenberg and Jan Cornwall, sales director.

Included in those attending were James McCain, first co-ordinator of the club; Helen Wainio, a representative of Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District); Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart, Treasurer John B. Lewkowicz and Councilman Beverly McAnally.

In addition, Hyle J. Carmichael, Romulus' first mayor, and now its industrial coordinator under Stewart, attended the gathering.

All the guests offered the seniors a "happy anniversary" and written wishes from State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District) and State Rep. Gary Owen (D-22nd District) were presented to the group.

Started in August 1966, the senior citizens' organization went from membership of 30 to better than 200 today.

In addition to the dinner and speeches, entertainment was provided by Blackgold, a professional magician whose services were contracted by the Romulus Recreation Department.

Local merchants added to the festivities by donating goods to be offered as door prizes at the dinner.

The Romulus Senior Citizens Club receives direct help from the Romulus Recreation Department through Wilma Pomeroy, senior citizens' coordinator.

The Recreation Department is headed by Marie DeBuyscher.

Mayor lauds cleanup drive

Romulus' annual city-wide cleanup by youths hired with special summer employment funds has been declared a "big success" by Mayor James C. Stewart.

This year, students hired under the program, which Stewart took over when he assumed office in January, cleaned up roadsides throughout the community.

"They did a fine job," Stewart said. "But unfortunately, the city could use a year-round program, because in some place the roadsides were as dirty one week after the end of the cleanup as they had been prior to it."

"People aren't as careful with their trash as they should be."

However, the mayor gave high marks to the youths who participated in the program.

"Their efforts should be commended," he said. "This program is excellent because it offers the youngsters an opportunity to earn money and makes the community a more pleasant place to live."

"As a by-product, I think the program also proves that not all youths are bad, since there were many good ones who worked for the city this year."

"People should remember these youngsters when they think of youths during the year."

Ed council sets meet

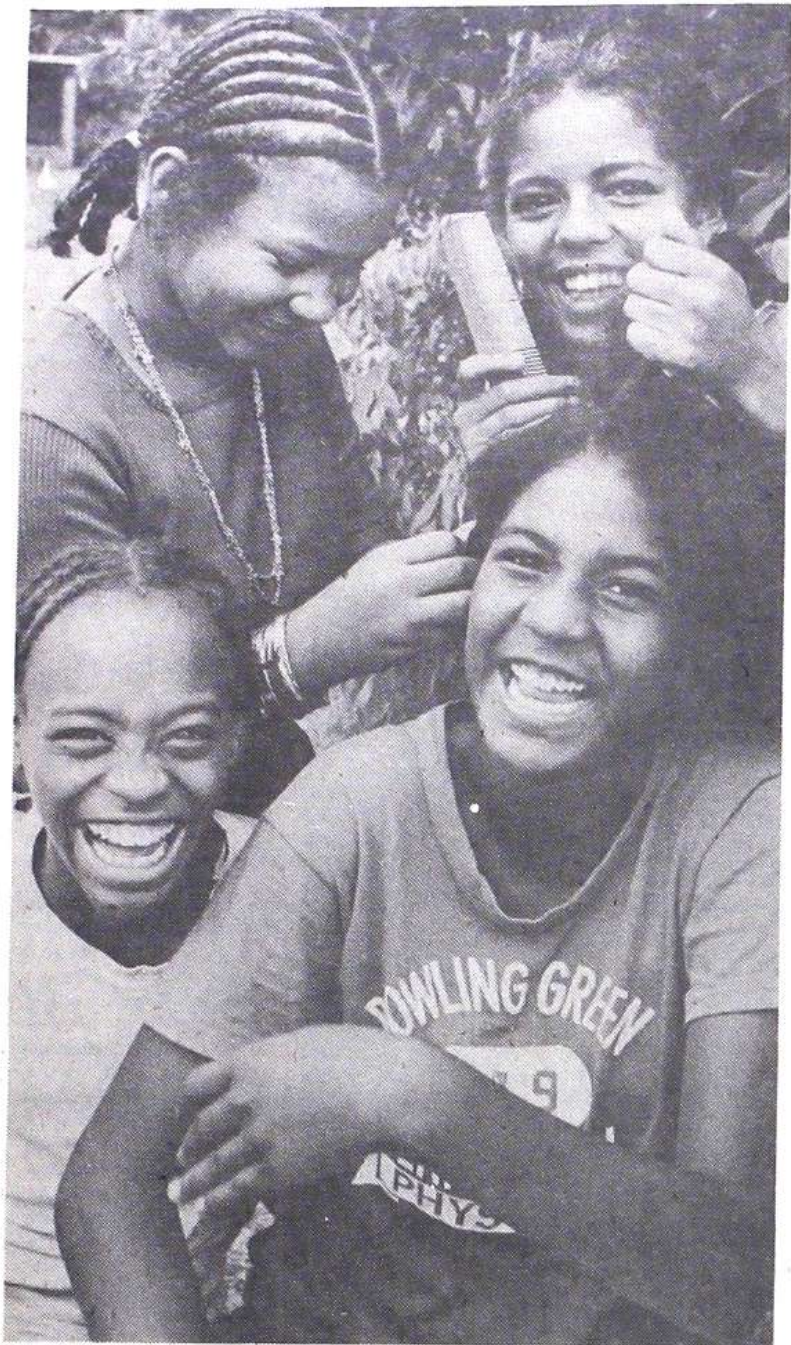

A meeting of the Romulus Community Schools' Compensatory Education Parent Advisory Council has been called by Chairman Richard Campbell.

Scheduled for 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Romulus Board of Education offices, the meeting is designed to discuss the formation of an action committee to oversee enrichment program offered to students in need of special assistance.

Included in the discussion of the compensatory education program will be federally and state-funded programs. Among those are the Head Start pre-school program and special in-school programs for slow learners and alternative education programs.

"We're trying to get this committee off the ground to explore the needs of the Romulus Community," Campbell said. "We're looking for goals in compensatory education for the coming year and the formation of an action committee to come up with ideas on how to implement those goals."

Hair styling

When the youngsters gathered at Willow Creek Metropark recently, organizers of the annual picnic for the Romulus summer recreation program found that softball throwing, hair styling and rope jumping ranked high among the picnickers. And four unidentified young women, all Romulus residents, tried their luck at hair styling, tackling the chore of creating corn rows. The annual picnic marks the end of the summer program. — ANP photo.

Ridner joins staff of JA

An assistant program director has been added to the staff of Junior Achievement (JA) of Southeastern Michigan for its western area. Working with Program Director Daniel White, Gary Ridner will be responsible for the management of the JA program in the metropolitan regions of Ann Arbor, Chelsea, Dearborn, Howell, Lincoln Park, Monroe, Plymouth, Redford, Wayne, Ypsilanti and the westside of Detroit. In his new position, Ridner, a Livonia resident, will be supervising high school recruitment in the 4-county area and coordinating the activities of the adult advisors from business

Zaire missionary will speak at United Methodist Church

A missionary from southern Zaire, Dr. Glen J. R. Eschtruth, will be the guest speaker on Sept. 16 at the First United Methodist Church of Flat Rock.

A pot luck dinner at 6:30 p.m. will precede the talk, to be included in a service slated to start at 7:15 p.m. A slide presentation will be included in the program.

Dr. Eschtruth and his wife, Lena, have been stationed at the Piper Memorial Hospital, now known as Samuteb Memorial Hospital at Kapanga for the past 15 years. During that time he has been the only medical doctor, servicing an area the size of the State of Michigan with a population of more than 100,000 Africans.

Under Dr. Eschtruth's direction the hospital has been expanded to 250 beds and 18 rural clinics, a leprosy treatment center and tuberculosis sanatorium have been set up.

During his time in Zaire, Dr. Eschtruth has repaired and maintained the essential missionary "life line", the shortwave single-side band radios (SSB). He built and installed the SSB radio equipment in southern Zaire and at times was able to broadcast calls for help to get assistance to besieged mission stations or give essential medical consultations to missionaries and Africans at isolated stations.

Dr. and Mrs. Eschtruth recently were made chiefs of the Lunda tribe in recognition of Mrs. Eschtruth's work for the advancement of women.

Owen bill seeks change in ballot

State Rep. Gary Owen (D-22nd District) has introduced legislation to change Michigan's general election ballot to the Massachusetts format to make it possible for more than nine political parties to have candidates on the ballot.

Under the Massachusetts format, candidates for public office are listed under the office they are seeking, rather than by party. Persons desiring to vote a "straight ticket" for one of the major parties still would be able to do so, but persons desiring to vote a straight minor party ticket would have to vote for each of that party's candidates individually.

"This change is highly preferable to either limiting parties, or going back to paper ballots," Rep. Owen said. "I oppose the concept of placing undue, arbitrary restrictions on the right of small parties to appear on the ballot. I very reluctantly supported Public Act 94 only because the only other feasible alternative, paper ballots, is an even worse solution."

"Voting by paper ballot in an urban area results in long lines, thus effectively discouraging people from voting. What's even worse is the open invitation to vote fraud presented by paper ballots."

The Owen bill, if adopted, would not affect the 1976 election, but would be implemented in time for the 1978 general election.

Romulus man joins in naval exercise

Navy Gunner's Mate 3.c. Morley J. Kilbourn II, 21, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morley J. Kilbourn I of 8659 Burton, Romulus, is participating in the naval exercise "UNITAS XVII," as a crewmember aboard the guided missile destroyer USS MacDonough, homeported at Charleston, S.C.

The exercise marks the 17th consecutive year that U.S. warships and aircraft have operated with naval forces from South American nations in joint training maneuvers designed to test and improve the combat readiness of the participating units for the protection of the southern seelanes of the Western Hemisphere.

UNITAS XVII began when U.S. and Brazilian task groups rendezvoused at Port Everglades, Florida. The U.S. Navy task group will circumnavigate the South American continent, operating with ships of Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile, Peru, Colombia and Venezuela. Bilateral exercises will be held with each countries naval task group off their respective coasts. The U.S. task group has visited Rio de Janeiro and Recife, Brazil, and will be making port visits at other South American countries during the cruise. Kilbourn's ship is expected to complete the exercise by mid-November and return to Charleston, S.C.

Also in the armed forces:

Navy Hull Maintenance Tech. Fireman Lorin R. Luckhardt, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Luckhardt of 6555 Outer Drive, Belleville, has returned to Norfolk, Va., after an extended deployment to the Mediterranean as a crewmember aboard the fast combat support ship USS Seattle.

During the 6-month deployment, his ship cruised more than 23,000 miles and participated in several operational readiness training exercises as a unit of the U.S. Sixth Fleet. The Seattle is designed to resupply other ships with fuel, munitions and provisions while at sea. His ship's primary operations were in support of aircraft carrier task forces.

Luckhardt also visited ports in Italy, Spain and France during the cruise.

A former student of Belleville High School, he joined the Navy in June 1975.

Community Mart must be salvaged

ROMULUS is in danger of losing one of its most important assets. No, not a bank or an industry. We are referring to the city's three-year-old Community Mart.

Organizers admit with justifiable sadness that this past year could be the last for the community-wide event.

Attendance was down and despite some solid publicity by this newspaper, it never really got off the ground.

After a good start in 1974 and an even more encouraging beginning in 1975, the bottom has fallen out.

Why? Organizers claim that the mart's apparent disintegration began when earlier this year they were ordered to move the event from city hall grounds to a location less accessible to motorists.

The city hall site provided an advantage no other place could. It was in the middle of the everyday activities generated by the city. It was a stone's throw from major roads and streets and as a result was a very visible entity.

Today organizers are blaming city officials for whatever happens to the mart, where people could buy and sell every product imaginable.

Beverly McNally, who is in charge of the function, and Mayor James Stewart are what you might call "political enemies." Her supporters say forcing the mart out of the city hall complex was a "purely vindictive" move. Stewart, of course, vehemently denies it.

The city originally budgeted funds to keep the mart going and there still is about $420 left over. But no new money was budgeted for 1976-77.

So what we have is an important civic venture that is virtually down and out, with little hope of recovery. And that is really too bad, because its organizers had much more in mind than simply setting up "shop" for buyers and sellers.

They wanted it to serve as a meeting place for community residents. A place where people could gather and who knows, maybe get to know one another a little better.

And then someday the Community Mart would take its place as the flagship event of the year for community pride and restoration.

We still believe it could be salvaged if organizers were permitted to return the event to its original city hall site. And why not? Isn't the city hall complex synonymous with community involvement?

Parking is a 2-way street

WE WOULD hope that when the Wayne County Board of Commissioners discusses enactment of an ordinance which would permit the towing away of illegally parked vehicles in county parks, it not lose sight of the fact that the county may be partly at fault for this situation.

We are referring to those areas where adequate parking facilities are not provided to begin with.

Granted there are those among us who are selfish, rude, discourteous and downright oblivious to other person's rights, and whose erratic behavior when out in public tends to punish the rest of us who, for the most part, follow society's dictates.

Give the scoundrels an inch and they'll take a mile; give them a parking place and they'll take two spaces; give them no parking place and they'll park in your backyard.

Most of the parking in county parks is decided on a first-come, first-served basis. Get there early and find yourself a convenient place to park. Arrive later in the day and either park illegally or go back home.

In areas where there are concentrations of ball diamonds and tennis courts picnic sites and other recreational facilities, and where the public is mostly likely to congregate, we would hope that adequate parking places are provided and not necessarily along the berm of the road.

For those who prefer to park illegally when there are legitimate parking spaces available, then towing away the guilty party's vehicle is in order.

It's up to the county to provide substantial parking areas and it's up to us to abide by the rules. If this is done, that ordinance the county is considering may not have to be enforced.

Service economy is where it's at

By HARRY R. HALL
Retired President
Michigan State Chamber of Commerce

Recently, a report by a special council studying economic growth problems used figures from the Michigan Employment Security Commission showing that manufacturing jobs as a percentage of total employment in Michigan in 1975 was only 28.65 percent.

Several different tables in this report were somewhat confusing because in some places public employees were excluded and in others it is not clear. Either way, it may come as a surprise that manufacturing in a major industrial state does not produce a larger percentage of the total employment. It would seem logical to question why so much money and effort are spent in competing for industries by states, cities, chambers of commerce and various other groups.

There is a sound reason. The statistical reports do not tell the entire story. Manufacturing employees in these reports refer to the workers in a plant engaged directly in production of a product. They do not refer to many other required to service these production workers. These other jobs are classified as service jobs. Manufacturing is the base for economic stability and growth.

Manufacturing jobs create many other service jobs as well as additional industrial jobs that supply the machinery and equipment for any given plant. This is known as the multiplier and acceleration factor. Jobs are multiplied by other jobs and that accelerates demand for new products and service. In such manner economic growth occurs. For example, for each 100 jobs engaged directly in manufacturing another 76 jobs are spawned in service industries. This is not a wild estimate or a haphazard guess. This has been substantiated by in-depth studies made by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States for more than 30 years. Ten widely separated communities in representative geographic sections with differing characteristics have served as test bases to illustrate the impact of a new industry employing 100 industrial workers. Periodic checks are made to keep the studies up to date and to record any changes that may occur as a result of changing circumstances. The results are well documented and strictly reliable.

These 100 manufacturing jobs start a chain reaction that has an economic influence on all citizens and transcends the immediate geographic confines of the particular community. Personal income increases $849,000 per year. That income supports 312 people. It results in payment of mortgages or rent on 116 homes or apartments. Ownership of passenger cars increases by 119. This generates tax monies sufficient to educate 51 children. Bank deposits go up $525,000 per year. Retail sales jump $397,000 per year. This supports four retail establishments. And the benefits go on and on and on.

It is important to remember that the process works in reverse. If an industry decides to leave a community for any reason or goes bankrupt or is closed by a strike, the community suffers economic loss in about the same amount.

Although industry is the key element in economic prosperity for the workers of the nation the percentage of total employment by manufacturing has been declining since about 1948. The economy of the nation or the respective states is no longer classified as an industrial economy. We now live in a service economy. That means more people are employed in service jobs than in manufacturing products, constructing buildings, extracting minerals from the earth or growing food.

On the national level, 66 percent of the gainfully employed people work in service jobs. This includes government employees, the fastest growing classification, where there is one person on a federal, state or local payroll for every five persons in private non-government employment. This trend is likely to continue. Industry is able to produce more with less employees because of mechanization, automation and computerization. However, total jobs are increased by industrial growth because of the greater number of new workers needed to service the industries. It is a matter of temporary displacement, not loss of available jobs in the economy.

This service economy is a job economy. As we have passed through the agricultural economy to the industrial economy and now into the service economy more and more people have become job holders. They work for somebody for a salary. Today over 90 percent of the employed people in the nation earn a livelihood by having a job instead of being self employed or independent entrepreneurs. Business provides about 82 percent of these jobs.

So no matter what some politically appointed study group may say about the declining role of industry in providing jobs, the service jobs and the high technology developments are dependent on sound, steady and continual industrial growth. Any state that ignores that simple economic fact will become strictly a ward of the federal bureaucracy as New York City has become.

On the brighter side

Do things really change?

By JIM BRADLEY
Pastor, Fair Haven Baptist Church

Sometimes I wonder if things ever really change.

A well-known sage once penned: "the more things change, the more they remain the same." Well, I'll be honest and confess that while I'm a student of writing and writer, the real meaning of that "gem" escapes me. But I do know that things didn't change at all for me last Thursday night when I visited Pontiac Stadium for the first time.

The Detroit Lions hosted the Baltimore Colts in their last exhibition football game of the pre-season. Since my wife was on a short vacation I knew she would be thrilled to watch the Lions play. After all, what better things do working wives have to do with their free time than trek to Pontiac and watch over-grown men beat on each other?

At lunch I casually mentioned to my 15-year old son, Jeff, "Hey, tonight's the Lions' last exhibition game and a chance for us to see Pontiac Stadium for the first time." I said it loud enough for my wife to hear but she repeated her first answer, "I really should sew up some of my dresses." When she heard the tickets might cost ten dollars each, she added: "Besides, we don't have that kind of money." (that sounded like a phrase I'd heard often before also.)

Jeff got on the phone and called the Lions' office and found out we could get bleacher seats for only $4.25 each. Bleacher seats —

that's the name for ground-level seats behind the endzone. They were so low we could only see up to the players' knee pads. But at least we got a good view of kickoffs and field goals.

We hurriedly made plans to drive to Holiday Inn, park there and take the shuttle bus to the stadium. It seems funny that Holiday Inn would build a two million dollar motel just be used for a Lions' parking lot. The large charter bus bullied its way through heavy traffic on its way to the new pigskin palace. Departing the bus, we entered the magnificent edifice and expected to see long cement ramps rising high between steel beams.

But we walked in on ground level and saw this huge hole in the ground with a bright green carpet covering the bottom of it.

We hurried to our bright, blue moldy, I mean, molded contour backless seats behind the endzone and watched the players warm up. Soon a pleasant man sat down next to me, followed by his four sons.

"What are those seats behind us with the backs on them?" I asked.

"Those are the ten dollar seats," he replied.

"The backs cost six dollars?" I queried.

"They have to have some reason for charging more money for them," he laughed.

The first half of the game passed uneventful except for two things. This guy next to me shared his beer with his two sons, 7 and 8 years old and he also asked: "Do you mind if I smoke?" I know it's against the law to smoke in the Pontiac Stadium stands. But I didn't fully realize I could be held as an accomplice when I said, "I don't care." Just think if the police would have rushed down, confiscated the cigar as evidence and hauled him off to jail. He could have pointed a finger at me and said, "He encouraged me to commit the crime!"

During halftime my wife and I discussed how disappointing it was to see the man beside us giving beer to his sons who were only seven and eight years old. We recalled six years ago when our church group went to a Detroit Tigers baseball game and sat behind third base. Some high school age boys spilled beer on us as they horsed around. "Isn't it a shame you can't even go to a Tiger ballgame without getting beer spilled on you?" one lady asked.

Back at Pontiac Stadium, the third quarter started before my wife and I got to see those private boxes on the second level. As we looked inside the glass cages, the people were all drinking something — probably red pop or lemonade. And wouldn't you know it? The Lions scored three touchdowns in the next three minutes.

When the Lions scored, the fans in the stands stood up and blocked our view. And when we tried to see the replay on the TV screen in the private clubhouses, they stood up and blocked our view. And they didn't even offer to share their lemonade with us, either!

As we walked to the gate after the game to board the shuttle bus back to Holiday Inn, there was a long line of people waiting. Three impatient young men, each carrying a large container of beer, tried to take "cuts" at the front of the line. As a large outcry came forth from those behind them, they were removed from the line but one of them threw beer all over those at the gate. A restless match ensued and another youth tossed more beer on the people in line just ahead of us.

Soon we were safely aboard the bus and couldn't help thinking how this one thoughtless, selfish act by these beer-throwing youths had ruined an otherwise happy experience. Do things ever really change? It didn't for us. Six years ago at Tiger Stadium and last Thursday night at Pontiac Stadium, thoughtless youths doused people with beer.

Should the legal drinking age be raised from 18 to 21 years? I have my own ideas on that.

As far as I'm concerned, drinking alcoholic beverages should be limited to people at least 80 years old who are accompanied by their parents.

A TRUE FRIEND

A true friend is like a jewel, glowing with love beyond compare. Overflowing the golden rule with love and kindness that is rare.

A true friend is like a light in the darkness of the night. Always standing beside you with love and help to guide you.

And if you have this friend for sure a pearl that is without a price, be sure to treasure him or her and treat this friend real nice.

FORGET ME NOT

Darling, forget me not. Think of me now and then and write a letter to me whenever you can.

Write and tell me the things you haven't told me before and tell me the things I'd like to hear once more.

Tell me that you love me and that you will be true. That wherever you may be You'll think of me, too.

Then when I read your letter and clasp it to my heart, I will bring you very near and we won't seem to be apart.

A GUEST EDITORIAL

Berlin Wall—how much longer?

The following editorial by Axel Springer was published Aug. 13 in the Berlin edition of "Welt am Sonntag" (The World on Sunday).

"Should men seek to rob you of peace and freedom, fight stoutly for freedom and fatherland." No modern nationalist said these words, but the Swiss Father Niklaus von Flue, Brother Klaus, the godly hermit of Melchtal. He uttered them in the 15th century as a motto when Switzerland's independence stood at a decisive crossroads.

These words should be in the lead when here the Soviet Communist onslaught on the unity and freedom of Germany is commemorated: the erection of the Berlin Wall 15 years ago. What was built then, on August 13th, 1961, has been repeatedly called a prison wall. But what would the world say when somewhere on earth prison walls were fitted on the inside with automatic killing machines?

That it is a structure, built unlike the Great Wall of China not against incursion, but against potential seekers of freedom from within, is beyond doubt. It is in fact a prison wall. Not only history but also its design are evidence of that.

But it is more than a prison wall: the rolls of barbed wire, the chevaux de frise, the death zones and the mines, then the automatic killing machines and the snipers at the loopholes and in the watch towers make it indisputably a military fortification, a Soviet forress in the middle of the old capital of Germany and beyond, cutting across the country, built 16 years after military operations against Hitler's Germany ceased.

This brutal symbol of a barbarous regime is politically, morally and in international law a challenge to the civilized world. Worthy of the GULAG Archipelago, this wall is in both meaning and reality a breach of peace and a preparation for war; for behind it, in its shelter, military formations, heavily armed with offensive weapons, assemble in the guise of frontier troops. They have tanks and artillery and are prepared for nuclear, atomic and chemical (NBC) warfare.

These fortifications and the troops in its field of defense are today the most fundamental offense against the right to freedom of all Germans, which is a basic right of individuals and nations; it is an offense against the security and peace of Europe so hypocritically hymned in Helsinki a year ago.

Those shot and tragically killed while attempting to flee are the fallen — the fallen in the war for German freedom, the Third World War, to quote Alexander Solzhenitsyn. Fallen whose names should be engraved on a Cenotaph. Fallen in the most recent war being waged in the middle of Germany, in the middle of Europe, at the most macabre military fortification system built to secure conquered territory which Soviet Communism maintains in the world.

One repeatedly hears that this GULAG wall was built because the Communists feared the draining of their conquered German territory; a draining which threatened because of the intolerable political oppression and the catastrophic failure of the system in East Berlin. Instead of correcting the faults they built a wall to shelter barbarism.

Accordingly the fight against the Wall can only be a fight for freedom, the freedom of all those confined in the middle of Germany behind the Soviet West Wall.

Freedom is the criterion of political rule in the 20th century. The Wall, in its hostility to freedom, is therefore the Middle Ages, barbarity, a state of war between right and wrong, between freedom and violation.

But this wall is only effective so long as we fear and respect it. If we treat it with contempt, if we daily feel it to be an insult and a challenge, all the Kalashnikov weapons and death-dealing automata will be of no avail.

The adversary knows this. That is why he now shoots not only at those fleeing East Germany but also at citizens and workers from the free world. The Red imperialists claim that their "frontier" is at stake because "provocateurs" rob it of its deterrent effect. As if the death-machines on the other side could be rendered harmless by tourists' cameras! Or do they really fear the clenched fists of angry western visitors to the demarcation line?

At all events military commandes have been formed, the order to shoot was more radically worded so that now not only persons fleeing from their own state but also citizens from our state are fired on.

"No mercy" is the watchword. Prizes of money, leave and medals entice the marksman who shoots anyone down. The consequence is murder.

We demand that an end be made to this war. Aggression should be outlawed; it is no better than the Cubans' intervention in Angola. For it is intervention. It is war against the way of life of free men, war against right and freedom.

Against it we must call for right and freedom for all Germans. And in the Federal Republic of Germany we should at long last grasp what Hans Zehrer, who died ten years ago, wrote in 1961: "In politics freedom is still identical with the freedom of the nation in whose sphere it can become real." What does this mean?

Hans Zehrer, the unforgettable Editor of DIE WELT, who after the Second World War discovered anew his fatherland, explained it: "Freedom exists in the hard reality of politics only in the form of self-determination and can only be achieved and secured within the unity of the nation. The personal freedom of the individual would soon be lost if he were no longer to feel called upon to fight for the unity of the nation and to oppose this idea to a system which dreams of raising the Red Flag over all Germany and beyond."

This is why the Federal Republic is called upon to take, in the name and for the protection of our freedom, political steps in international law which will ensure that the erection and extension of a military fortification system through the middle of a nation and of a city are internationally outlawed.

The Berlin Wall has now stood for 15 years. It is a prison wall and offensive bastion in one. It is an insult to every human being who loves or thirsts for freedom, a source of concern to all who live in freedom anywhere in the world.

Mondale would reduce U. S. to inferior power

By PATRICK J. BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON — For 45 seconds the Legionnaires hooted and booed Jimmy Carter. The Democrat candidate had just told them of his "blanket pardons" for the draft dodgers who fled to Canada and Sweden, while other young Americans lost limbs and lives in an Asian conflict Jimmy Carter suddenly discovered was a "racist" war waged by the United States.

Mr. Carter, however, is fortunate the Legionnaires were unaware of the rest of his platform. He would have needed beefed-up Secret Service protection.

The Democratic platform denounces U.S. bombing of enemy sanctuaries which saved American soldiers by the thousands along the Cambodian frontier. It hails Congress' choking off of military aid to the pro-Western Angolan rebels, thereby guaranteeing victory to a Cuban-supported Marxist gang which celebrated its success with the public execution of Daniel Gearhart, a Catholic Vietnam veteran from Kensington, Maryland.

With the Soviets outspending the U.S. by 50 percent on defense, more on weapons, Carter-Mondale want the U.S. defense budget slashed $5 to $7 billion — a cut larger than the entire defense budget of Japan. The Democrats refuse to say where and how the cuts will be made. The reason is obvious. Cuts of that magnitude cannot now be made without imperiling the security of the United States.

The U.S. is today in imminent danger of falling so far behind the Soviets in conventional and strategic power as to virtually invite another Angola, another Vietnam, another missile confrontation.

This is not simply the concern of Ronald Reagan, Barry Goldwater or Henry Jackson. One of Mr. Carter's principal advisors, Paul Nitze, as well as the Democratic candidate for senator from Virginia, Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, are both known to be deeply concerned that the Russians may be on the threshold of achieving first-strike capability.

The Foreign Report of the British Economist says that by the end of 1976, Soviet strategic superiority will have been achieved. Writing in the Times of London, British military expert Lord Chalfont bobserves:

"I am deeply sorry if I tread on anyone's dreams, but I feel bound to draw attention to the fact that the nuclear balance, always a fragile and uncertain edifice, is being demolished before our very eyes. While the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks have been going on, and partly as a result of American concessions during those negotiations, the Soviet Union has achieved a position of strategic nuclear superiority over the United States.

"The nuclear balance ceases to exist when one side believes it has acquired the capacity to deliver an effective nuclear attack upon the other and survive the ensuing retaliation. My proposition is that the Soviet Union is resolved to acquire that capacity in the very near future."

Still, Mr. Carter wants deeper cuts: and he has chosen as running mate a man whose record is as follows:

Mondale voted against building a missile defense; then he voted to tear it down. We voted against research and development of a new bomber to replace the B-52. He voted against a new nuclear carrier, against the Trident submarine. With the Soviet build-up in Europe mounting, he voted to pull half the American troops out of the NATO lines.

When the administration asked for funds to upgrade the accuracy and effectiveness of our strategic missile force, Mondale said no. When Henry Jackson, a Democrat, proposed that the U.S. insist on strategic equality in future negotiations with the Soviets, Mondale said no.

He voted against the CSA transport planes which helped save Israel in the Yom Kippur war, against developing the cruise missile which would help regain U.S. strategic parity with the Russians. He voted against letting the Navy build a fueling station on Diego Garcia to protect the sea lanes through which passes the oil on which Japan, Europe, and, increasingly, the United States depend.

Mr. Mondale's voting record is that of a unilateral disarmer. He is the most radical antimilitary politician to be so close to the U. S. presidency since Vice President Henry Wallace, from 1941 to 1945. This is the man Jimmy Carter wants a heartbeat away from the Oval Office.

Puppets visit Belleville Library

A special puppet show at the Fred C. Fischer Library in Belleville was the mid-summer highlight for area children who saw "Paul Revere", "Jack the Giant Killer" and "The Fat Cat" performed. Nancy Beets (standing, above) and Ellen Kendall, staff members of the Institute Services Dept. of the Wayne County Library System, manipulated the puppet characters. They also asked the youngsters to join in a folk chant, "Did You Feed My Cow?" and had them handling the stage and puppets as Phyllis Clark, children's librarian in Belleville, read the script of "The Three Billy Goats Gruff." The remainder of the group provided sound effects as needed. The audience participation program included the puppet

"people" asking the children questions which they, in turn, answered enthusiastically. At the finale, the puppeteers invited the group to take a closer look at the puppet stage and also let them take a turn with the characters. Among those getting the feel of the hand puppets were (bottom picture, from left) Tal Saraf, six, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Shevach Saraf of Church Street and cousins, Brian Summers and Margie Summers, the 7-year-old children of Mr. and Mrs. William Summers of Sumpter Road and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Summers of Sumpter Road, respectively. Ms. Beets (with horse) coaches the trio.

Decorative Arts Seminar includes Belleville women

The 11th National Decorative Arts Seminar in Louisville, Ky. was attended by two local business women, Mrs. Chris Bentley, owner of Bentley Galleries and Crafts, and Mrs. Dorothy Richardson of Richardson's Ceramics. The 6-day seminar included many of the most respected craftsmen from around the country.

The purpose of the seminar, sponsored by Connoisseur Studio, Inc., a manufacturer of fine decorative art and craft materials, was to provide education in the field of decoupage and tole and decorative painting.

The two Belleville participants learned basic techniques in those lines, making samples of such projects as a small shelf clock, a large plaque, a display board showing different finishes and a sun shadow (glass window hanging). Other projects included a mini canvas painting in a frame, a large plaque and box lid frame painted with daisies and strawberries, respectively, and a basket purse accented with country carving and decorative painting.

In addition, Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. Richardson took part in a series of business sessions which covered such topics as craft class planning, inventory control and advertising and promotion. They also participated in the Annual Decorative Arts Exhibit held in conjunction with the seminar.

Yvonne Campeau appointed to HV press rep post

Mrs. Rene (Yvonne) Campeau of 32230 Sibley Rd., Romulus, has been appointed press representative for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, it has been announced by Council President Mrs. Frances Bauer of Plymouth.

In this volunteer position, Mrs. Campeau will be responsible for reporting news of over 2,000 Girl Scouts in 97 troops and 422 adult volunteers in this area to the Belleville Enterprise, the Romulus Roman and the Flat Rock News Herald-Guardian.

A former Girl Scout herself, Mrs. Campeau worked as assistant troop leader of Brownie Troop No. 178 at Hannan Road Elementary School last year. Long active in community affairs, Mrs. Campeau has served on committees for school millage and school board elections in Huron School District and helped to found the Huron Countryside Co-operative Nursery. A veteran of 14 years business experience, Mrs. Campeau today works as bookkeeper and secretary for her husband's business, a Tuffy Muffler Shop chain. She is the mother of a daughter Yvette, eight, and a son, Michael, five.

"We are fortunate indeed to have a woman of Mrs. Campeau's professional experience and community contacts in this vital communications role where Girl Scouting is growing so rapidly. The number of troops in this area has grown over 10 percent since a year ago. I am delighted she has accepted this appointment," Mrs. Bauer said.

Volunteer begins 24th year in Scouting

MRS. STEPHENS

Mrs. Sarah Stephens is one of those rare individuals who, along with raising a fine family of six children, still manages to find time for volunteer work in her community.

This fall, she is starting plans for her 24th year in Girl Scouting which, she believes, offers many opportunities to growing girls. "I especially enjoy helping the girls," she said. "Many times parents either can't or don't want to spend enough time with their children and they need someone to be a friend and teach them things. Often girls call me 'just to talk' and one thing I have learned from working with girls is patience and taking time to listen to what they have to say."

Mrs. Stephens is the leader of Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 292, which is comprised of 9 to 11 year-olds from Beverly School in Romulus, a position she has held for 14 years.

Her "career" in Girl Scouts began in 1953 when her eldest daughter, Cynthia, was a Brownie. At that time she attended meetings as a helper. From there she became assistant leader and eventually took the post of troop leader after she had completed her leadership training by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

Throughout those years her other daughters, Joanne, Patricia and Lynn, also participated in scouting. And though it has been many years since her own children were in her troop, she has such a strong belief in the opportunities offered for a girl's growth through Scouting that she wants to continue making the opportunity available to other girls by carrying on her work.

Mrs. Stephens, who resides at 6584 S. Wayne Road, has been a resident of the area for 22 years. In between raising her family and doing volunteer youth work for the Church of God in Christ and her local PTA, she enjoys ceramics and sewing.

Her children's accomplishments are a reflection of their mother's love and guidance. The eldest, 30-year-old Cynthia Stephens Mulenga is a graduate of Ferris State College and currently teaches in the Government Grade School in Lasaka, Zambia, Africa. She is married to Friday K. Mulenga who is a government employee doing library research.

Daughter Joanne is 25 and single. A graduate of Michigan State University, she is a home economist employed by Minnesota Fabrics in Southgate.

The eldest Stephens son is 28-year old Norris, another Michigan State alumnus who studied agriculture and now is working for Agrico near Milan.

Another son, Gregory, 23, earned his degree in pharmacy at the University of Michigan and currently is working as a pharmacist at Revco in Redford.

The youngest two, 17-year old Patricia and 15-year old Sarita Lynn, attend Romulus High School where they are in their senior and sophomore years, respectively. Patricia hopes to become a teacher of special education.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council presently is conducting a recruitment drive for volunteers who are willing to exchange some of their time and talents for the rewarding experiences as troop leaders, assistant leaders, troop committee workers and program resource persons.

Who is eligible? Mothers like Mrs. Stephens, of course, but also non-mothers, fathers, uncles, college students, working women, grandmothers and grandfathers and retirees. Huron Valley Girl Scout Council President Mrs. Frances Bauer of Plymouth reminds prospective participants that training is provided and no one ever works alone.

Troop leaders are responsible for helping girls select and organize troop objectives and projects, as well as coordinating the efforts of volunteer assistants. Each leader has a volunteer supervisor who counsels on all phases of the position.

Assistant troop leaders attend troop meetings with the leader to help with individual girls or groups on special projects.

Troop committee members provide a broad base of community support for the troop as well as transportation, chaperones and other assistance for troop activities.

Program resource persons meet with any number of troops sharing expertise in such fields as ecology, photography, crafts, dancing and career planning.

Interested individuals may obtain further information by calling the Huron Valley Council at 483-2370 or writing to Box 539, Ypsilanti, Mi., 48197.

100th birthday cause for celebration

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hill of Liberty Street were in Waterloo, Ind. on Aug. 21 to help their uncle, Bert Hill, celebrate his 100th birthday. The family had dinner at Platner's Inn outside of the city of Waterloo. His niece, Mrs. Edward Smith held an open house in her home in the afternoon and 31 were present.

"Uncle Bert" lives in the same house he was born in in 1876. After years of travel he returned to Waterloo in 1933. Eight years ago he spent the winter in Belleville. He still is an avid baseball fan and Babe Ruth was one of his favorite players.

and Mrs. Merrell Mum of Onkama. While up north she visited her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hopson at Torch Lake where she also saw her great granddaughter for the first time. The baby is 2 1/2-months-old.

Mrs. Mertie Schaefer of Biggs Street celebrated her 83rd birthday on Aug. 20. She received many cards, gifts and calls and at this time wishes to thank her relatives and friends for remembering her.

On Saturday afternoon, Aug. 28 there was an especially happy time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilson of Roland Street, the occasion being the seventh birthday of their oldest daughter, Amy. A group of 18 girls and boys attended the party and enjoyed the games and pink and white ice cream and cake.

Later in the day Amy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Folmer, and great-grandfather, Mike Folmer of Warren, came to help celebrate the day, too.

Mrs. Dorothy Kellas of Margaret Street gave a surprise party on Aug. 28 for friends, Mr. and Mrs. Alex (Betty) Wilcox of Westland, on their wedding anniversary. The Wilcoxs were married in Glasgow, Scotland 15 years ago. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas (Florence) Satterlee, Mr. and Mrs. Barry (Diane) Weigel, Mr. and Mrs. Roddy Mackenzie and Mrs. Ginny Taylor, all from Westland; Mr. and Mrs.

Charles (Anne) Kidwell of Belleville; Miss Mildred Mackey of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Walter (Kay) Smith of Romulus. The couple received a number of lovely crystal gifts.

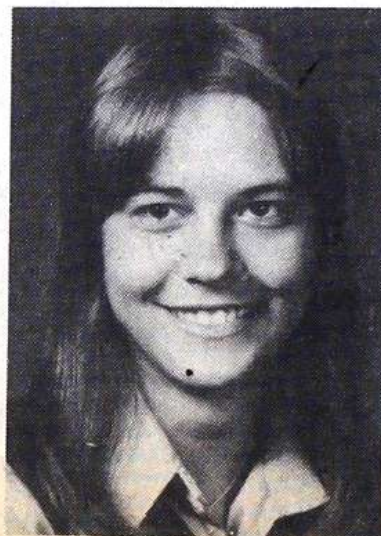

Mrs. Henry Potter of Wabash Street and her son Morton Potter and his children of Plymouth spent a few days in Ottawa, Canada during the past week.

Michael Berry of Livonia was a recent luncheon guest of his grandmother, Juanita Akers of Liberty Street.

This past Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering spent the afternoon near Addison with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas (Verna) Koubish and their small son, Christopher, helping Christopher celebrate his third birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thurston and family were in Saline this past Sunday attending the Wilson Reunion.

Couple planning winter wedding

MISS MAES

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maes of 40450 Harris Rd., Belleville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Vicki, to Danny Sword, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sword of 40140 Edison Lake Rd., Belleville.

The bride-elect is in her senior year at Belleville High School.

Her fiancé, who is employed by United Brass in Romulus, is a graduate of Belleville High School.

A February wedding is being planned.

Vocational courses available now at Huron High School

Two new programs at Huron High School are currently being offered to Belleville-Van Buren Township residents. The Concentrated Vocational Program aims to develop in students those occupational skills needed to obtain employment.

The vocational courses are designed to provide actual experiences in working with the types of equipment and machinery being used in industry today. Some of the classes offered include architectural drafting, auto collision, auto mechanics, data processing, health occupations, office training, machine trades and small engine repair.

The program is designed for those individuals who wish to learn an occupational skill or wish to change their occupation and are willing to attend a vocational class three nights a week. The program is designed for those individuals who wish to learn an occupational skill or wish to change their occupation and are willing to attend a vocational class three nights a week. The classes are a study of one particular job skill with employment as the goal.

The aim of the Work Experience program is to seek currently employed students who have acquired knowledge and training through their on-the-job experiences which will earn them credit towards a high school diploma. Any adult working towards such a diploma who is presently employed either full or part-time is eligible for the program.

Registration for the above programs, along with all other adult education classes, is now underway at Huron High School. For further information, contact Chris Fields at 483-1506.

Mrs. Winifred Gault of Roland Street recently accompanied her daughter and son-in-law Toni and Bud Lawrence and their family, Jean, Mike and Fred, to Savannah, Ga. to attend the wedding of Mrs. Gault's grandson. After touring Savannah and the surrounding area, they drove to Orlando, Fla. and Disney World. From this point the Lawrences returned home and Mrs. Gault flew to Hollywood, Fla. where she spent nearly two weeks with her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Heath of Ecorse Road entertained at a picnic Aug. 26 as a farewell gesture to their daughter and son-in-law, Eileen and Tom Sefcovic, who are moving to New York. A number of relatives and friends gathered to wish the couple good luck. Tom will be studying at the Manhattan School of Music.

Miss Aura Violeta Merida Zea was the recent guest of the Albert Riggs family of Haggerty Road. The visitor is a resident of Guatemala City in Guatemala, Central America.

John and Ginny Dunayczan were here from Florida recently and houseguests of Mike and Ann Dunayczan. In their honor, Walter and Clara Dunayczan entertained at a Weiner and corn roast on their lawn. Guests included Frances Korgal, the Pete Korgal and Jim Schultz families, the Henry Gokas, the Stan Gokas and the Edward Wenderski family of Detroit. The visitors returned home Friday.

Newcomers added to family trees

Norman and Bonnie Richardson of 10190 Wheeler, Belleville, added a new son to their family Aug. 25. The 8 lb. - 13 oz. heir was titled "Robert Samuel" — the second name being for great-grandfather Samuel Huff.

The baby was born at 6:29 p.m. at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. He has a sister, Robin, who's 11-years old and a brother, Michael, who's 1 1/2-years-old.

Mrs. Richard is the former Bonnie Thibodeau of Marquette.

Proud grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Richardson of Belleville and Mrs. Dorothy Clement of Marquette. Mr. and Mrs. Willard C. Huff of Marquette are the baby's great-grandparents.

weighed 8 lbs. - 1 oz. on her arrival Aug. 21 at Portsmouth Naval Hospital in Portsmouth, Va.

Named Shannon Leigh, she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Charles May, all of Bemis Road, Belleville.

The new mother is the former Tona Butler. The proud new father is serving with the U.S. Navy at Norfolk.

Their first child, a baby girl, was born Aug. 14 to Gene and Bobbett Lucier of 7177 Michael, Taylor. The 7 lb. - 6 oz. infant arrived at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital and was named Carolyn Marie.

She is the granddaughter of Charles and Gail Cain of Belleville, Elwyn and Sandy Olson of Taylor, Louis Lucier of Belleville and Rita Lucier of Canada.

The new mother is the former Bobbett Olson.

ABWA to focus on election year at Sept. 16 meeting

With focus on Americas presidential election year, the Huron Valley Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA) will hold a "Campaign Caper" Sept. 16 at Jackson's Tin Lizzie in Belleville 7 p.m. according to Mrs. Caroline Hesson, chapter president.

The fall "Campaign Caper" will celebrate a milestone in women's history: the right to vote, and commemorate the success of the suffragette movement which won this political freedom for women in 1920.

ABWA enrollment events are held semi-annually to introduce ABWA and the local chapter to business women in this area. Throughout this period similar events will be held across the country by more than 1,000 other chapters.

"The goal of ABWA is to help women in business advance through education, increased competence and upgrading of professional skills and business attitudes," Mrs. Hesson said.

The local chapter has been in existence just over a year and during this time has awarded scholarships to two local students. At the present time, two more students are being taken into consideration.

The group's "Huron Valley Charter Chapter Cook Books" are selling at $2.75 each. To purchase one, call Mazie Isaacson at 697-9357 or Nancy K. Landi at 429-5325.

The Association, founded in Kansas City, Mo. in 1949, now has more than 83,000 members. Last year, ABWA chapters throughout the United States and Puerto Rico awarded more than $700,000 in scholarships to women students. In addition, the ABWA national scholarship funds, SBMEF, awarded another $150,000 in scholarships during the same period.

Membership is by invitation only. For further information, interested business women may contact Bunny Hardy, membership chairman, at 682-7614 or Pat Baughman, enrollment event chairman, at 699-9926.

TALKING IT OUT with Harold Rediske
UHT Memorial Funeral Home

Since the beginning of recorded history, man has publicly viewed and buried his dead with dignity and ceremony. Although rituals have differed, the funeral service meets the needs of the survivors, the living, as well as provide for the deceased. What are these needs and how does a full-service funeral provide for these needs?

Realization: First, it is a declaration of a death which has occurred and a testimonial to a life which has been lived. Denial of a death is not uncommon. The very fact of a funeral and the viewing of the body (or casket) facilitates the realization of the death.

Emotional expression: The full-service funeral is of deep significance, emotionally and psychologically, aside from the obvious clinical need for preparation of the deceased for burial. Sorrow shared is sorrow diminished. The full service and the facing of true facts is the first step toward emotional adjustment to bereavement.

For more information about the full-service funeral, stop by, phone or write. Helpful literature is available without obligation.
(This is one of a series of brief articles we hope will be helpful. You may ask questions privately or publicly through this newspaper.)

West Michigan rivers prove picturesque

Kalamazoo and Paw Paw offer good paddling

The Kalamazoo and the Paw Paw rivers offer canoeists good fishing, easy paddling and excellent sightseeing in some of the most picturesque wilderness areas of west Michigan.

Both rivers got their names from the Potawatomi Indians who roamed their banks hundreds of years ago. Paw Paw was the Indian name for the trees that still grow along the river.

Kee-Kalamazoo, meaning "where the water boils in the pot," was applied to that river by Indians who noticed the whirling motion of the stream's eddies.

The name also was given to a trading post established on the riverbank in 1823, but six years later, the area's first permanent settler, Titus Bronson, renamed the post in his own honor.

The Indian name was adopted again 1936 by temperance-advocating townsfolk who were angered by Bronson's love of liquor, but they shortened it to Kalamazoo.

The Paw Paw's East Branch begins at Little Paw Paw Lake in Kalamazoo County while the West Branch starts in Van Buren County. The two branches meet in Maple Lake in Paw Paw and travel north until joining the North Branch, which has its start in Van Buren County's Wolf Lake. The river's main branch then proceeds westward through Van Buren and Berrien counties until it flows into the St. Joseph River just short of Lake Michigan.

While almost all of the Paw Paw is canoeable, the stretch recommended for canoeing begins in Van Buren County at County Road 681 midway between Hartford and Lawrence. Some 40 miles and two to three days of paddling later, the Paw Paw flows into the St. Joseph River at Benton Harbor-St. Joseph.

The river winds its way through mostly private land — densely wooded and teeming with deer, muskrat, ducks and other waterfowl. Between Watervliet and Benton Harbor, the Paw Paw traverses the Sarett Nature Center, a favorite stopping spot for migratory waterfowl in spring and fall.

It is a nice, easy stream that touches only one big city — Benton Harbor — and has only two dams, one at Paw Paw and the other at Watervliet.

Both the East and West branches of the Paw Paw are rated good trout streams. The main branch from Paw Paw downstream to the Watervliet Dam produces good catches of pike, bass, panfish and suckers. Somesteehead and salmon can be caught just below the dam. Canoes can be rented at Gardner's Marina in Benton Harbor or at the Paw Paw River Campground near Watervliet.

The Kalamazoo River is at least twice the length of the Paw Paw. Its South Branch begins in a Hillsdale County swamp while the North Branch starts at Farwell Lake in Jackson County. The two branches meet at Albion in Calhoun County, where the main branch proceeds westward to Kalamazoo County, through Allegan County and finally to Lake Michigan.

Although the Kalamazoo has many portages — there are 18 dams between its headwaters and its mouth near Saugatuck — the river is considered manageable by an average canoeist.

The Kalamazoo River Canoe Trail covers 80 miles through Calhoun, Kalamazoo and Allegan counties and takes five to six days. The trail starts at Homer, south of Albion, and ends where the river meets Lake Michigan.

Probably the most attractive portion of the trail starts at Echo Point, two miles northwest of Allegan on Monroe Road. Canoeists have three miles of Lake Allegan to paddle before they must take out east of the Allegan Dam for a portage to a put-in site below the dam.

The next stretch of the journey is through the Swan Creek Wildlife Refuge, a spring and fall resting place for thousands of ducks and Canada geese. During migration, the sky is almost dark with waterfowl.

After the M-89 Bridge, there is a 7-mile stretch of open stream, including a site for camping in the Allegan State Game Area just below the bridge.

From the bridge to New Richmond, the river glides through four miles of the Ottawa Marsh, another prime resting place for migratory waterfowl.

After that, the river widens considerably as it traverses the Pottawatomie Marsh. Most of the riverbank along this last stretch is private hunting land where canoeists again are treated to glimpses of waterfowl.

Cycling club aids 'Super Ride '76'

The Dearborn Saddlemen's Bicycling Club will bring the "enthusiasm, expertise and energy" of their favorite sport to the Metropolitan Detroit March of Dimes bike-athon, Super Ride '76, when the group, under the leadership of Earl Givens and Paul Lund, president of the cycling club, serve as marshalls for the first event Sept. 11 in Hines Park.

The park will be closed to motorized traffic from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., to give the bicyclists a clear riding area.

Vernors Ginger Ale is sponsoring Super Ride '76 and will be wetting the whistles of participants through out the charitable fund-raiser. Free Super Ride patches also will be distributed to all participants when their pledges are received.

Super Ride '76 consists of three other events—a 100-mile Century Ride from the State Fairgrounds in Detroit to Flint and back for experienced bicyclists on Sept. 12, and the double-header Super rides at Metropolitan Beach and Grosse Ile on Sept. 25.

For further information on the bike riding event call 864-6000.

Proceeds from the Super Ride will go to the March of Dimes' fight against birth defects.

Museum to host lectures

A wide variety of lecture titles will comprise the program for the 17th annual Midwest Antiques Forum, to be held at Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn Oct. 18-22.

The Forum's theme this year is "Collecting Americana: The Decorative Arts in the New Republic, 1789-1837." Focusing on the period immediately following the American Revolution, museum curators, internationally-known experts on the American scene and major collectors of Americana will examine such varied subjects as architecture, furniture, fashion, ceramics, glass and other facets of the decorative arts.

Illustrated lectures, teas, group discussions and special curatorial tours of Henry Ford Museum highlight the week-long program.

Alan Gowans, professor and chairman of the Department of History in Art at the University of Victoria, British Columbia, will open the Forum on Oct. 18 with a discussion of "Politics in Three Dimensions, Social Functions in Architecture and Arts, 1790-1840." Later in the week, Stuart Feld, director of the American Department of New York City's Hirsch and Adler Galleries, will offer "A Personal View of Collecting American Classical Decorative Arts" and Sr. R. Mildred Barker of the United Society of Shakers, Sabbath Day Lake, Maine, will discuss "The Fruits of the Spirit: The Shaker Tradition in America."

Early American glass and ceramics will come under scrutiny with such presentations as "After Chinese Export, What?" by Carol M. Macht, senior curator of decorative arts at the Cincinnati Art Museum, and "Emerging Styles in American Glass" by Lowell Innes, noted author, lecturer and collector from Saco, Maine.

Other lecture titles include "Classical Influences on American Furniture" by Berry B. Tracy, curator in charge of the American Wing of the Metropolitan Museum of Art; "Liberal to Conservative: The Fluctuation of Fashion" by Elizabeth Jachimowicz, curator of costume at the Chicago Historical Society; "The Exotic Veneer" by Ernest S. Dodge, director of Peabody Museum, Salem, Mass., and "Raising Early American Spirits by Harold Peterson, chief curator, National Park Service, Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

In addition to the lectures and related tours and activities, forum participants will have the opportunity view the museum's special Bicentennial exhibition, "The Struggle and the Glory." Based on a previously unpublished collection of Revolutionary period diaries, cartoons, letters, maps and broadsides, this exhibit also features original weapons, furniture, tools, lamps, dry goods, cookware, transportation devices and other material necessities that depict life in America in the years surrounding the Revolutionary War.

For registration forms and additional information about the program, accommodations and fees, write Midwest Antiques Forum, Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, Mich. 48121.

Village, museum sets fall adult education class lineup

The fall schedule of adult education classes at Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum have been announced for the fall season.

This season a total of 13 enrichment and 40 craft classes as well as 35 1-and 2-day workshop sessions will be offered. Included are some 14 classes and 10 workshops never before offered by the village and museum.

New course offerings range from early American dancing and art techniques of the 18th and 19th centuries to instructions in how to make china head dolls and create illuminated manuscripts. A variety of workshops focusing on crafts for Christmas decorating and gift giving also are available.

Particularly appropriate this year is a special Bicentennial course designed to acquaint students with selected areas of Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum. Comprised of a double series of class sessions, the "show and tell series," will focus on such diverse subjects as village crafts, landscaping in the village, architecture in the village, the Edison Institute Schools and the Robet H. Tannahill Research Library. Each series consists of five classroom sessions taught by village and museum staff members. Students may register for either or both series.

Two additional courses, under the heading "Expanding Your Horizons," also are slated for the fall. One focuses on American decorative arts and includes a study trip to Connecticut and Massachusetts. The other, dealing with American folk art, includes a study trip to New York City.

Registration for fall classes will take place Sept. 18 in Lovett Hall on the grounds of Greenfield Village. Classes begin Sept. 29. For additional information and a descriptive catalog of courses, write Addult Education Division, Greenfield Village, Dearborn, Michigan 48121 or call 271-1620, ext. 345.

Adult education classes are offered as an extension of the collections, exhibits and activities of Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum.

Ex-resident dies in Hillman

Former resident Howard T. Haynes of Hillman, has died at the Provincial House in Alpena.

Mr. Haynes, 70, died Aug. 21. He was born in Ann Arbor Oct. 20, 1905, and moved to Hillman five years ago from North Lake.

He was a member of the village council of Hillman, served as water commissioner for the village, was a member of the Hillman Methodist Church, FM-AM 112 in Wayne, Scottish Rite in Detroit, Moslem Shrine in Detroit, and had owned and operated a tool and die shop in Wayne for many years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Frances McClain whom he married in Ohio May 12, 1940; two daughters, Mrs. Edward Herndon (Donna Lou) of Lansing and Mrs. Nina Leathers of Wayne; two stepsons, George Edman of Louisiana and James Edman of California; eight grandchildren; one great-grandchild; and a brother, Rupert of Brandenton, Fal.

Masonic services were conducted on Aug. 23 by Atlanta F&AM 516 at Green Funeral Home. Hillman Services were held at the funeral home, with the Rev. John Hunt of the Calvary Episcopal Church officiating. Interment was in Hillman Township Cemetery.

76-584

WHEREAS: The City Council is intimately aware of the necessity for the City of Romulus to have a budget from which to operate, however, the City Council has grave reservations as to the adequacies and-or completeness of this document in its existing form and;

WHEREAS: There are certain specifics which, in particular, cause the preponderance of the concern of the City Council. Specifics as follows:

1. As of May 31st the City collected $3,745,069.00. We had expenditures of $2,856,508.00, reflecting a surplus of approximately $1,000,000.00. Yet, the new document does not reflect under revenues this surplus. It is, therefore, urgent that an explanation be provided for this apparent deficiency.
2. The present document reflects a reduction in the appropriated amount intended to defray the City's obligation under its Law Enforcement Contract. It is therefore necessary that the Mayor provide assurance that the existing levels of service will be maintained during the new fiscal year.
3. To keep the City Council currently abreast of services being rendered by the Law Enforcement Contract, the Mayor should prepare and provide City Council a report outlining all services currently being performed under the Law Enforcement Contract.
4. Considerable funds are being expended as a result of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) it is, therefore, requested that within thirty (30) days a CETA budget be prepared and presented to City Council outlining the total revenues and expenditures by position.

5. The unexpended portion of the 1975-76 Drain Revenues be reflected in the revenue and expenditure portion of the 1976-77 general fund.

6. That before the mid-year budget review Council be provided with a report indicating the City's degree of compliance with the auditors internal control and audit procedures recommendation. (Prepared by Post, Smythe, Lutz & Ziel).

7. The City of Romulus is in the final stages of the development of a master plan and are continually being requested by developers to provide major public utilities and we are advised by the administrative officials that the City has limited funds to undertake major public improvements. The City Council believes that it is absolutely essential that a capital improvement program be developed, if the City is to proceed with any degree of order. It is, therefore, directed that the Mayor contract the appropriate professionals to develop a capital improvement program to be completed and presented to City Council at, or before, mid-year budget review, and;

WHEREAS: The City Council have herein set forth its concerns of the adequacy and-or completeness of the 1976-77 budget document.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT: The 1976-77 fiscal year budget for the General Fund, Fixed Asset Fund, Local and Major Street Funds and the Sewer and Water Funds be adopted.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus does herewith set forth its intent to conduct mid-year budget review and require that the administration have satisfied all concerns set forth herein and report as same to City Council.

76-597

Motion by McAnally, supported by Lee, to adopt Resolution 76-597 (a resolution establishing a Public Hearing for the establishment of a Rehabilitation District, as requested by Kelsey Hayes.

RESOLUTION 76-597

WHEREAS: Act No. 198 of the Public Acts of 1974 is designed to provide a stimulus in the form of significant tax incentives to industry to renovate and-or expand aging plants and to build new plants in Michigan, and;
WHEREAS: Under the provisions of the Act, a local governmental unit in which the total property tax levy is at least thirty (30) mills may establish industrial development districts and offer industrial firms certain property tax incentives to attract new plants to the area, and;
WHEREAS: Said Act provides that a firm may apply for and be issued an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate which entitles the facility to exemption from ad valorem real and personal property taxes for a period of twelve (12) years. In lieu of the property tax, the firm will pay a specific tax known as the Industrial Facility Tax for a new plant in an industrial development district is determined by the ad valorem property tax levied by the municipality instead, however, of using the total mills levied, only half the millage rate is applied, and;

WHEREAS: Said Act provides that seventy-five (75 percent) percent of the owners of property to be affected by any proposed industrial development district may apply to the local governmental unit for the establishment of an industrial development district, and;
WHEREAS: The Kelsey Hayes Corporation did on August 10, 1976, submit a request to the City of Romulus to establish an industrial development district, its description as follows:

19B1A2-L2

That part of the S 1/2 of sec 19 described as beginning at the center 1/4 cor of sec 19 and proceeding thence N89DEG 53M 20S E along the E and W 1/4 line of said section 40.85ft to the S WLY Line of Northline HWY thence S55DEG 52M 10S E Along said line 1541.40FT thence SODEG 04M 50S W460.94 FT thence S1DEG 25M 30S E 233.69FT thence SODEG 18M 38S E 1102.90FT to the S line of sec 19 thence S89DEG 38M 30S W along said S line 1322.30FT to the S 1/4 cor of sec 19 thence S89DEG 41M 30S W along the S line of said section 1465.88FT thence due north 2678.38FT to the E and W 1/4 line of sec 19 thence due east along said line 1460.23FT to the point of beginning except the north 43FT thereof 154.21 AC
K 154.21

WHEREAS: The Kelsey Hayes represents more than seventy-five (75 percent) percent of the property owners to be included in the aforementioned district as required by the provisions of Public Act 198, and;
WHEREAS: Public Act 198 requires that a public hearing be held to hear any objections to and all reasons for the establishment of an industrial development district when a request is received by the local municipality for the establishment of such a district, and;

WHEREAS: City Council of the City of Romulus is cognizant of the critical employment situation existing within its corporate limits compounded by an equally critical employment situation in the State and indeed the country, and;

WHEREAS: The establishment of the requested industrial development district would go far to encourage Kelsey Hayes to maintain its industrial facilities in the City of Romulus thereby retaining hundreds of jobs for the citizens of the City of Romulus, as well as an existing tax base.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus hold a Public Hearing on September 7, 1976, at 7:00 p.m. in the Romulus City Council Chambers, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan, to take testimony from any and all parties having reason to support the establishment of the requested industrial development district.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to all property within the proposed boundaries of said industrial development district, to all units of government currently levying ad valorem tax on property included in the proposed industrial development district, and that a copy of this resolution together with a notice of public hearing be published at least once in the official newspaper of the City of Romulus not less than five (5) days proceeding said hearing.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Raspberry, Block, Lee, McAnally, Canejo. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

76-598

Motion by Lee, supported by McAnally, to request the City Attorney, Robert Reese, to draft an Ordinance protecting the City against Nude Entertainment Establishments. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Block, Lee, McAnally, Raspberry, Canejo. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

DSO sets its 1976-77 season

A new Chamber Music Series, featuring three of the world's greatest conductor-violinists, several special Christmas Festival events, three performances by the internationally-acclaimed City Center Joffrey Ballet and a return visit from "P.D.Q. Bach" have been added to the 1976-77 concert season of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO).

The Chamber Music Series is a first for the Detroit Symphony Chamber Orchestra and will open on Oct. 30. Szymon Goldberg will be the guest conductor-violinist. On Dec. 23, Rafael Druian will be on the podium for a program of seasonal music. The series will conclude Feb. 17, with the DSO conducting debut of Alexander Schneider. All three performances are scheduled for 8:30 p.m.

Highlighting the holiday season this year will be the 1976 Christmas Festival, featuring a Messiah Singalong Dec. 21. DSO Conductor-in-Residence Paul Freeman will direct this audience participation performance. Vocal support for musically inclined concertgoers will be lent by soloists Candace Goetz, soprano; Louise Parker, contralto; Maurice Stern, tenor; Benjamin Matthews, bass-bartone, and the Rackham Symphony Choir.

One of the most outstanding dancers of our time, Jacques D'Amboise will guest star in Dance Detroit's production of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker" Ballet. Under the direction of Jacob Lascau, artistic director and choreographer, Dance Detroit of Marygrove College will perform with the Detroit Symphony Dec. 29-30, and at a special New Year's Gala Dec. 31. A toast-the-New-Year Party will be held in Ford Auditorium's Social Room immediately following the Dec. 31 performance.

Last year's performances demanded the return of the City Center Joffrey Ballet, which has been set for Feb. 19 and 20.

The zany Prof. Peter Schickele will be performer and intellectual guide through an evening of musical madness when "P.D.Q. Bach" comes to town for a Pension-Maintenance Fund Benefit Concert Feb. 25. P.D. Q.'s last visit to the Detroit Symphony stage was in the spring of 1973.

Season tickets for the Chamber Music Series, priced at $15.50, $12 and $7.50, are available now through the Season Ticket Department at Ford Auditorium at 961-0700.

Single tickets for all events will be placed on public sale at the Ford Auditorium Box Office at 9 a.m. Sept. 13.

RULES

1. Check each advertisement carefully for the teams playing this week's games.
2. Pick the teams you think will win each advertisement.
3. Fill in the entry blank at the bottom of the page according to the corresponding number in each advertisement.
4. When you've picked all 16 teams, find the "TIE BREAKER" box and pick the number of points you think the two teams will score jointly and enter that in the space shown.
5. Clip out both the entry blank and "TIE BREAKER" box, tape or staple the two together and bring or mail them to The Eagle office on or before Thursday of each week by 5 p.m. (Our office is located at 3550 Michigan Ave. in Wayne, 1/2 mile West of Wayne Road. Mailing address is The Wayne Eagle, 3550 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Michigan 48184.)
6. And don't forget to check ALL the advertisers for great savings on many, many items. Thank You.

All entries must be in our office before 5:00 p.m. Thursday of each week. So, if you're mailing yours, fill it out well in advance. Entries may be made on facsimiles, post cards or plain sheets of paper or on official entry blanks. Copies of the newspaper are available for inspection free at our office.
Only one (1) two hundred and fifty dollar prize will be awarded weekly to the entry picking the most winners. In case of a tie, the "TIE BREAKER" box will be in effect. If this results in a tie, the winner will be picked by a drawing. Employees of Associated Newspapers and immediate families are not eligible to enter. All tie games will be scored as a wrong answer unless you have picked the game to end in a tie. Each week's winner will be announced on the Sports Page the following Thursday.

QB lifts Wayne hopes

Bledsoe returns to Zebra lineup

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Considered one of the finest sophomore quarterbacks in the area two years ago, Pat Bledsoe, a rugged 6-3, 190-pound all-around Wayne Memorial athlete decided to sit out his junior football season.

Bledsoe is back in uniform and Wayne, traditionally a strong defensive team, may generate the offense in his senior year to make Coach Floyd Carter's fifth season as head coach a momentous one.

"Pat is the type of athlete who can make things happen out there," said Carter. "He's in command, though he still needs polish to get back into shape."

Carter is pouring out the superlatives to describe this year's team. He calls it "his biggest and fastest," but warns "the inexperience in the offensive line could be damaging."

"Our defense will be solid," Carter said, "and for the first time since I've been coach here we have some size in the backfield. Let me say we're going to be explosive — we'll be putting points on the board."

Carter knows his team will have to score if it's going to stay above waters in the tough Great Lakes 8 Conference. Wayne finished third in that league a year ago, but the Zebra's 3-4 record was the sixth best in the league. Taylor Truman and Monroe, each with 5-2 marks, wound up as co-champs. Crammed in a three-way tie for second were Fordson (4-3), Lincoln Park and Riverview. Coaches feel that Lincoln Park will be the heir-apparent to the crown.

"They (Lincoln Park) didn't lose many players off of last year's squad," said Carter, "you'll have to watch them very closely this year." Bledsoe will have one of the fastest

Romulus grid schedule loaded with powerhouses

Labelling it as one of the toughest football schedules in the school's long history, Romulus High head football coach Tom Baldwin prepares for the 1876 campaign with a score of unanswered questions.

"This is probably the toughest schedule Romulus has ever played," said Baldwin who enters his third year as the head Eagle grid strategist. "We're playing teams like Jackson Lumen Christi, Toledo DeVilbiss, and Taylor Truman — and they're tough."

Romulus will open up the year on Sept. 17 at 7:30 p.m. against DePorres. Its first home game is Thurs., Sept. 23 against Oak Park. One of the questions that Baldwin and his staff must resolve before the opening game is to find a successor to Michael Morrison, who quarterbacked the Eagles to a 4-4 year last season.

Baldwin admits he is concerned about the key position.

"Morrison was an excellent athlete who got the job done for us," Baldwin pointed out. "Right now we don't have anyone to take his place, but I'm sure that the candidate we eventually pick for that position will be able to do the job for us."

Along with Morrison, Baldwin lost six other "blue chip" gridders to graduation. Also sorely missed will be tackle Ed Abbott, who received a scholarship to Michigan State University, and Mike Ellis, a defensive specialist.

Romulus' offensive backfield will have the experience of fullback Steve Hutchinson, a senior who stands 6-1 and weighs 193-pounds. Baldwin has also moved Andy Orgovan from guard to fullback. Orgovan, an All-Area candidate a year ago, is 5-10 and 164.

Huron team has improved

In the past New Boston Huron not only had its problems winning football games, but also getting on the scoreboard.

That may all be in the past now. Last year rookie coach Tom Lebeau guided the Chiefs to an 1-8 record and the one victory ended a long losing streak. The victory, posted in the final game of the 1975 campaign, was the first in three years.

And, in 1976, Lebeau feels his chargers could break even.

"We're going to be a vastly improved team," said the second year Huron coach. "We won't have the numbers but we do have the experience and that's why I'm optimistic."

Lebeau warned that a rash of injuries could become fatal to his plans for a 500 season.

"We're carrying about 23 or 24 players on this year's varsity squad," Lebeau said, "so injuries definitely will play a role in the success of this team."

"We just can't afford any," he added.

Of the 24 players out for the squad, 15 lettered last year.

Craig Beattie will be back to lead the Chiefs' offense again. The 175-pound quarterback has an excellent throwing arm and is an able runner which will give Lebeau an opportunity to run the option more frequently this season.

Beattie's younger brother, Mark, has the fullback position sewn down. The 6-0, 185-pound junior is a "a tough player who will call our defensive signals as well," says Lebeau.

Runningbacks Dave Gordon and Greg Hinojosa will give the Chiefs a couple of solid ballcarriers. Greg, sidelined last year because of an injury, is following in the footsteps of his older brother who earned All-Area consideration two years ago.

Slotback Jeff Stoker and Greg Smith lettered a year ago and will be key links in Huron's offensive chain.

Promising candidates also include Keith and Kevin Johnston, out for the first time, Fred Block, a fullback-linebacker, and Randy Pichan, defensive end who is also being groomed as a quarterback.

Lebeau's offensive line returns intact from a year ago.

"But, since we only have 24 players that will mean most of the boys will have to go both ways," Lebeau pointed out. "This can hurt a team."

Lebeau has some defensive specialists in tackles Marv Benson, Jeff Wauer, linebacker Keith Parsons and safety Jim Martin, who earned their varsity stripes in last year's campaign.

Huron will find the going rough again this year against the established powers in the league: Flat Rock, Grosse Ile and Monroe Catholic Central — all loaded with holdovers from a year ago.

Flat Rock and the Islanders wound up in a two-way tie for the championship last year and they're among the pre-season title favorites this year.

"We're not looking for miracles," said Lebeau. "But I'm certain we can compete in our league with this team this year."

The Chiefs have a nonleague tune-up 7:30 p.m. at home against Milan on Sept. 17 before opening up the Huron Conference against the defending co-champ, Flat Rock, on Sept. 24.

2 ex-Glenn gridders are on NMU roster

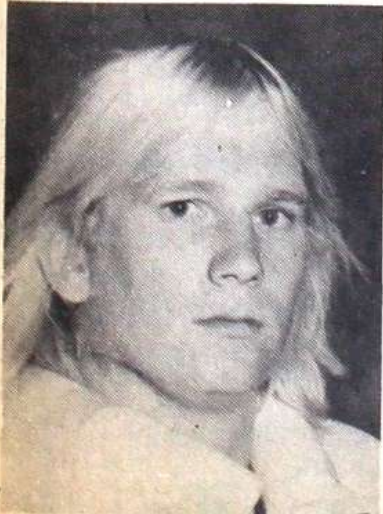

Two former All-Area gridders have broken into the line-up of Northern Michigan University's varsity football team.

They're Fred Shoemaker and Bob Elsminger who helped make Westland John Glenn a grid power in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

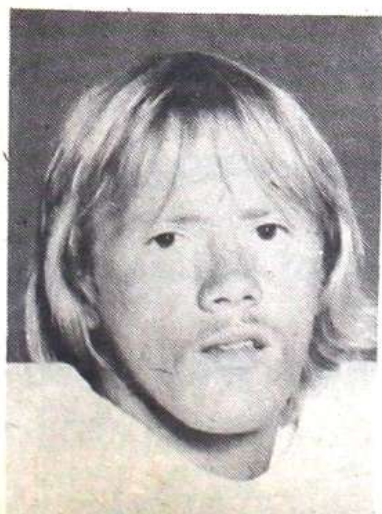

Northern Michigan is the defending NCAA Division II national champ, edging Western Kentucky 16-14 for the coveted title.

Wildcat head Coach Gil Krueger has eight offensive and six defensive starters back from his championship club plus 22 returning lettermen.

Shoemaker, who is 5-8, 150 pounds, started three years for Lloyd Carr's Rockets at Glenn. He rushed for 923 yards in 173 attempts last year to spark the Westlanders to an 8-1 season, the best in the school's history. He also scored 11 touchdowns in last year's campaign.

Winning Spirit of '76

Right with the Bicentennial mood, the Spirit of '76 captured the 1976 edition of the Wayne Parks and Recreation's Maxi-League girls' softball championship. The champs amassed an 10-2 record. Members of the team (kneeling, from left) are Kim Allen, Kathy Brewis,

Cherry Hill's Pawloski is pleased with turnout

Jerry Pawloski has never had the numbers to work with at Cherry Hill High.

But, this year the quantity is there for the third year Spartan head football coach.

And that's good news for Cherry Hill fans.

"We had 34 players show up for practice," said Pawloski who, at the end of the 1975 campaign, barely could field a team. "This is the first time we have had numbers since I've been coach."

Those "numbers", however, are inexperienced.

Only five of the 34 are holdovers from last year's squad which posted a 0-9 won-lost record.

Co-captains Scott Grinding, an end who doubles as a linebacker on defense, and Mike Minor, a tailback who will serve as a defensive back, will lead the Spartans.

Also back are Pat Pudelek (6-1, 170), a senior guard; Mike McEviley, a 5-10, 175-pound senior guard and Jim Steudle, a 5-10, 160-pound end.

"We're definitely green," said Pawloski who is quick to point out that he is encouraged by the numbers this year. "We only have a few players who have seen varsity action. However, the kids that are up this season have had junior varsity or junior high experience."

"That means there is a continuity in our program which is very encouraging," Pawloski added.

Pawloski also pointed out that his offense should be more potent than its 1975 counterpart. One of the reasons is quarterback Scott Dawson who started in the final game of the '75 campaign.

A 6-1, 155-pound sophomore, Dawson can throw well and is an excellent ball-handler.

"We have had our problems with this position in the past," Pawloski noted, "but I feel that Scott can do the job for us."

The Spartan backfield will also include Mike Minor who inherited the tailback position from older brother, Jim. Jim was Cherry Hill's leading rusher a year ago.

Mike Wiebelhaus, a 5-10, 175-pound senior, and Clarence Guyton a 5-10, 155-pound senior who was the league's top hurdler will add speed to that backfield.

Though Cherry Hill will field a small offensive line, the Spartans hope to make up for the lack of weight with their speed. Tackles

Despite dismal forecast

Inkster may be tough

Arnice James is back as Inkster High's head football coach.

But he's about the only familiar figure on the 1976 Viking squad which graduated all but two of its regulars.

"We're very thin and we don't have any size at all," moaned James, whose teams have been respectable in the Suburban Athletic Conference.

"We're going to have to use our quickness to stay on the field this year," he added.

Tegre Taylor, a 5-11, 168-pound center and Carl Tomlinson, a 175-pound, 5-11 guard, are the leftovers from last year's squad that finished with a 1-7 won-lost record a year ago.

"There are three or four teams that I figure are in our class," James said. "If we can win that many games I'll be satisfied."

Inkster starts the season on Sept. 17 in Detroit at Murray Wright (3:30 p.m.) and will begin the home phase of the campaign the following week against Saginaw Bona Vista.

Coach James sees another power struggle for the Suburban Athletic Conference title with defending champ, River Rouge, hard-pressed to repeat.

"Rouge has lost too many players and I feel that this will be Highland Park's year, but don't count Robichaud (Dearborn Heights) out if Bob (Yauck) can find himself a quarterback to run his offense," James said.

James has Rodney Holt, a 5-10, 183-pound senior and Richard Lockridge, a 6-1, 165-pound senior working out as his QBs. Holt, who appears to be the stronger runner of the two, may get the starting job against the Detroiters.

The Vikings' top rusher, James Hicks, is back in the fold. He's expected to be even better this year. Also, Anthony Wilson, a 5-10, 185-pound senior, will see more action as a ball-carrier this season.

Another promising prospect is Maurice Hendricks, a 160-pound, 5-9 runningback who is the quickest member of the squad.

Inkster's offensive line will include guards Charles Crawford and Blair Spikes, tackles Charles Murphy and Tomlinson and ends Lockridge and Michael Jackson.

"A 'very shifty' Lyndell Knight is the flanker."

"Most of these kids will be playing defense," said James, "and here again we're going to rely on our speed. We have the heads but not the size, so we're going to have to be quick."

Though shutout three times a year ago, no team blew the Vikings off the field last year.

Coach James' minions may not win more than they lose this year, but look for them to be in the thick of every game.

Romulus gridders

165) to handle the quarterbacking. Summerfield is competing with Phil Bonam, a senior, for the starting job.

Romulus will have seasoned guards in Larry Horne (6-2, 193) and Dave Johnson (5-10, 175) who return from last year's squad while junior Wally Brown (5-10, 170), senior Keith Williams (5-11, 190) and junior Mike Cole (6-0, 224) are dueling for the tackle posts.

Tight-end Jeff Frazee (5-10, 185) give the Eagles respectability in that position and Mike Bossary who lettered as a sophomore at tackle will probably be given the center's job.

Other returning lettermen include Brian Sedlacek (6-0, 193), juniors Delvin Nelson (6-0, 170) and Vernon Hill (6-0, 185) who give the Eagles depth at tight-end.

Don McMann, a 6-2, 187-pound senior, who nabbed 19 passes and accounted for nine interceptions, could be a legitimate all-state contender if the split end has any kind of season like the one a year ago.

Playing as an independent again this year, Romulus has not found a league to call its own since the Twin Valley Conference broke up three years ago.

Romulus also will not meet any of its former rivals in the Suburban Athletic Conference because that league has "boycotted" the Eagles. In the past Inkster, Ecorse, River Rouge and Robichaud — all SAC members — scheduled Romulus. This year, however, the league has refused to play their former non-league rivals, hoping to force Romulus to join that league.

Westside wins Wayne title

Sweeping two games from Fiddle Bar, Westside captured the Wayne Parks and Recreation's men's softball city championship last week.

The champ upended their arch-rivals 12-6 in the first game of a best of three series, then took the second 11-8 for the title.

Fiddle Bar drew first blood in the initial game as it scored in the top of the first inning, however, Westside tied it up in its half, then went ahead 2-1 in the bottom of the fourth.

But Fiddle Bar refused to quit and took the lead again, scoring three times in the fifth to go ahead 4-2. A six-run outburst in that inning put Westside up for good.

Fiddle Bar kept the outcome of the game in doubt as it chased two more runs across in the sixth, making it a 8-6 ball-game, but Westside retaliated with four runs in the sixth to widen the margin.

Dave Ries, the winning pitcher, gave up 12 hits, two each to Mark Pajot, Jim Schewe and Dave Stewart while the champs worked losing pitcher Dennis Cowell for 14 hits, including a pair of triples by Don Deptula.

Mike McMasters' two singles drove home two of Westside's runs and teammate Dennis Deptula missed hitting for the cycle when he failed to get a home run.

Fiddle Bar gave the champs a scare in their other contest as both teams exchanged three runs in the opening frame. But Westside rallied for four runs in the second to take a 7-4 lead after two innings and scored single runs in each of the third, fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

Fiddle Bar replied with a pair of runs in the fourth and sixth frames.

Don Deptula had another good day at the plate as he latched on to two doubles and a single in three appearances at the plate. McMasters tripled off of loser Dennis Cowell who also served up a three-bagger and single to Bob Briggs and Andy Kinunen.

Andy Kinunen scattered seven hits — a double to Gary Dargo, and singles to Dennis Cowell, Schewe and Pajot to chalk up the victory.

Babe Ruth champs

Unbeaten in Class E competition this season, the Bears won it all in Wayne Parks and Recreation's Babe Ruth Baseball League. Manager Chuck Slamer's winning lineup included: (kneeling, from

Belleville High to meet grid team Friday

It's time to "Meet the Team" at Belleville High School.

The 1976 Tiger football squad, coached by Pat Stokes, along with the Belleville grid coaching staff, the cheerleaders, and the Tiger Marching Band, will be introduced to local fans on Fri., Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m.

The annual affair will be held on the football field and moved into the school's gym if it rains.

Belleville will open the 1976 football campaign on Sept. 17, clashing with rival, Wayne Memorial. Last year that opener was a thriller as Belleville lost in overtime 25-19.

VERN SHARBAUGH

Westlander serves as WSU coach

Wayne State University, the defending Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference football champions, will again have the coaching services of Westlander Vern Sharbaugh.

Sharbaugh is an offensive line coach on the staff of Dick Lowry whose Tartars compiled an 8-3-0 record last year.

WSU finished with a four-game winning streak at the end of the 1975 campaign.

WSU also will have Dick Tressel of Southfield as defensive coordinator, Dave Fiscella as defensive linebacker coach and Walt Stasinski as defensive backfield coach.

The Tartars will launch the home season Sept. 18 as host to Northwood Institute. They'll be on the road Sept. 10, taking on Howard University as their initial game of the 1976 campaign.

WYHA signs up hockey players

If you haven't signed up for the Wayne Youth Hockey Association League, there's still time.

The WYHA will continue its hockey registration for boys and girls on Sat., Sept. 11 at the Wayne Community Center. Players may sign up between the hours of noon and 4 p.m.

Boys, ages 4 to 12, may register for a fee of $5, while registration fee for 13 to 19 year olds is $10; girls registration fee is $5 for 8-12 year-olds and $10 for girls 14 to 18 year olds.

Figure skating registration will also be accepted on Sept. 11 from 2 to 6 p.m. Instructors will be on hand to assign the skater to classes.

Late registration will be accepted at the ticket office beginning Sept. 13. Classes will begin on Sept. 14 and class sessions will last eight weeks, each class is of 45 minute duration.

Let your fingers do the walking

Ever been on an early-season bear hunt in the Upper Peninsula? It's a rip-roaring, fun-filled, thoroughly-confusing experience in which believe it or not, everything favors the bear.

Members of the Michigan Bear Hunters Association intend to keep it that way, too. They continue to work hard in an effort to keep the slob element out of this sport. Without constant policing by the real bear hunters there is too much chance that anti-hunting forces could bring group dog hunts to an end.

This year's U.P. bear season gets underway Sept. 10. Hunters are being reminded, though, that there is something new. Dog owners will have to get special permits before it will be legal to use dogs. Permits will cost $2 for resident hunters and $10 for non-Michigan residents. Permits will cover as many as ten dogs although it will be unlawful to use more than six dogs in a pack at one time.

A dog owner must obtain the special dog permit from an office of the Department of Natural Resources. He must list the dogs to be covered, their license tag numbers and his own name, driver's license and bear hunting or sportsman's license number for the 1976 season. In addition, he must present proof that each dog has had a current rabies vaccination. Each dog must also be wearing license tags while hunting.

Unnecessary red tape? Not at all. MBHA members themselves asked for this new legislation that has now become law. In previous hunting seasons, a number of so-called "sportsmen" were picking up large numbers of dogs from dog pounds and were hauling them to bear country. There they were turned loose in hopes they would chase bears. Those that actually hunted were retrieved by their new owners; the remainder were left to roam the woods, often turning into deer killers or starving.

Nor will it be legal to send in substitute dogs once a six-dog pack has been turned loose after a bear. Make-up of a dog pack will have to be done after a chase has been completed since MBHA members do not consider a "relay" system sporting.

Actually, the average MBHA member doesn't give a darn whether he ever kills a bear. The chase is the big thing, with its bedlam of hound music as the dogs try to work out the trail and attempt to put the bear up a tree. The biggest bears, however, resent this kind of thing and, more often than not, haul up short to cuff a few unwary dogs around and then make good their escape.

Some bears get shot, of course, but once a bear is treed the hunt is generally considered successful. In fact, those hunters arriving at the tree are quite apt to think up all kinds of reasons why they don't want to kill the bear and usually end up leaving him up there as they leash the dogs and head on out of the swamp. While much of this is due to good sportmanship, part of this has to do with the fact that dragging a 500-pound bear out of a shintangle swamp is rough!

Thanks to this kind of attitude on the part of most hunters, the sport of bear hunting will probably be around in Michigan for a good long time yet.

Doctors to discuss prep athlete injury

An update on better methods for safeguarding health of high school athletics will be covered in 10 sessions of an all-day sports medicine conference in Pontiac Sunday, Sept. 12.

The seminar on "Medical aspects of sports for physicians, coaches and trainers" will be held at the Michigan Center for Continuing Education in Osteopathic Medicine, 900 Auburn Road, Pontiac. Sessions begin at 8 a.m. and continue until 4:15 p.m.

Sessions will cover:

- Need for more thorough qualifying physical examinations
- Better conditioning techniques for contact sports
- Earlier recognition of injuries on the playing field
- Women in sports
- Psychological considerations of the child athlete.
- Medical-legal implications in sports medicine

Another session will be devoted to "The Older Athlete: Cardio-pulmonary Considerations" (touch football, weekend golfers, the infrequent jogger, perils of starting an exercise regime without a physical examination).

Of special interest to the physician with athletic patients will be a presentation on "Thy Physician's Challenge of Sports Medicine."

Conference sponsors are Michigan State University's College of Osteopathic Medicine, Michigan Association of Osteopathic

Physicians and Surgeons, Inc., the Michigan Osteopathic College Foundation, and the Michigan Osteopathic Hospital Association.

The conference was organized to help meet increased demands on all sectors of health and physical education for greater accountability, according to Dr. Richard W. Redfearn and Dr. Robert M. Mandell, program co-chairmen.

Dr. Mandell is certified in orthopedic surgery and a member of the American College of Osteopathic Surgeons, and Dr. Redfearn is assistant professor of biomechanics and director of athletic medicine research at MSU's College of Osteopathic Medicine.

He is author of several articles on health of high school athletics, and is conducting an audit of injuries to athletes in 54 Michigan high schools.

Other faculty for the seminar are: Jennifer A. Parks, assistant professor of health and physical education and head women's swimming and diving coach at MSU; Dr. Myron M. Faber, assistant professor of human development and director of adolescent medicine, MSU College of Human Medicine; Richard O. Flynn, head football coach, Lansing Eastern High School; Dr. Bernard Goldstein, practicing osteopathic physician; Dr. Bernard Kay, head of division of pediatrics, MSU College of Osteopathic Medicine; and Richard Milder, R.P.T., certified athletic trainer.

Wayne to field title contender backfields in recent Wayne history to work with. Tim Clark, who replaced the injured Mike Melcher at tailback early in the 1975 campaign, returns with excellent credentials. He's fast, deceptive and was one of the Zebras' leading ground-gainers.

Kevin Johnson, who also sat out his junior year, is being groomed as a halfback. Brett Hanson, runner-up in the state finals in the high hurdles, and Chris Leverenz are working out at fullback, while Carter is looking at sophomore Wally Zarb and junior Jerry Smart as slotback.

Wayne's offensive line, though inexperienced, has size as split receiver Keith Johnson will use his 6-1, 170-pound frame to nab passes and senior Don Campbell, a husky 6-3, 200-pound is at tight end.

Mike Plungis, an All-Area and all-conference candidate a year ago, has matured into a 6-4, 210-pound senior tackle. His counterpart, Kevin Wilson, is 6-3, 215-pounds.

Carter will use Craig Green, a senior 5-11, 180-pound athlete at one guard, Bob Lusk, a 5-10, 170-pound senior and Mike Allen, a 6-0, 185-pound, also a senior, duel for the other guard slot.

Anchoring the team at center is Jim Prieskorn, a 6-3, 205 pound senior, considered one of the finest centers the school has ever produced.

Wayne will have the depth to rotate most of its players so that only a few will see action both ways.

The defensive picture will include Leveranz at middle guard flanked by either John Smith (6-3, 235), Kevin Wilson (6-3, 215) or Bob Ostrander (6-3, 200).

Plungis and Campbell will hold down the ends while Lusk, Mike Allen and Chris Leveranz or Randy Shirk, a sophomore, will be scheduled to see duty as linebackers.

The candidates for the defensive halfback slots include Roy Smith, Keith Johnson, Tim Clark, Dave Areeda, Tom Rayy, Larry Vojtkofsky.

Wayne will open up the season 8 p.m. at home to Belleville on Sept. 17. The Zebras have always had problems with Belleville which forced its nonleague rivals to play on over-time a year ago before surrendering a 25-19 decision to Carter.

Class C softball champs

Watson; second row are Jim Baeley, Chet Marzec, Dennis Speck, Frank Gnas and Kevin Hearney; third row are Hank Blayer, Vince Heaney, Norm Swope and Jerry Hysko.

Pawloski pleased

Dan Finnson (5-11, 175) and Al Svihra (5-11, 185) are seniors, while Chris Papa (5-10, 175) and Jon Sweet (5-10, 160) are sophs vying for the starting center job.

Grindling and Steudle round out the line as ends.

Pawloski feels that his team "is a year or two from becoming a legitimate title contender in the Tri-River Conference."

"I don't want to sound negative or pessimistic," Pawloski stressed, "but we have a very young and inexperienced team. I'm being realistic then when I say we're trying to shoot for a .500 record."

"Last year we lost four or five games by one TD or less and maybe this year we can turn that around."

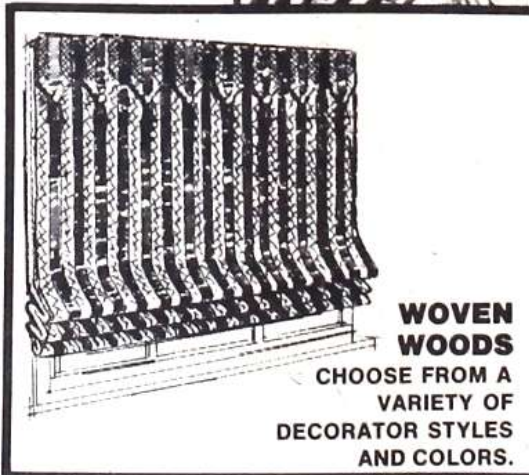

Pawloski has tagged Melvindale as the team to replace Taylor Kennedy on the conference throne. He also puts Southgate in the thick of the race.

"Melvindale has most of its players back and I'd have to say they're the pre-season favorite," Pawloski said. "But, again, Kennedy wasn't among the favorites last year and it managed to go unbeaten in the league."

Cherry Hill will meet Dearborn Heights Annapolis for its opener, Sept. 18 at 2 p.m. before a home crowd. Then, on Sept. 25, the Spartans will see if Melvindale truly had the makings of a champ. The two will meet on the Spartan gridiron at 2 p.m.

By Chester Kosin

Citizen's Band radio has a reputation for helping to save lives in an emergency, accident, or disaster. CB can also take the credit for all sorts of other things, including keeping you in good company while on the road. Few laymen, however, know the difference between mobile or business radio and CB. Land mobile services were established well before citizens radio, and is carefully regulated by the FCC. CB citizens radio uses the same relatively expensive UHF equipment as land mobile business radio, but restrictions are more relaxed.

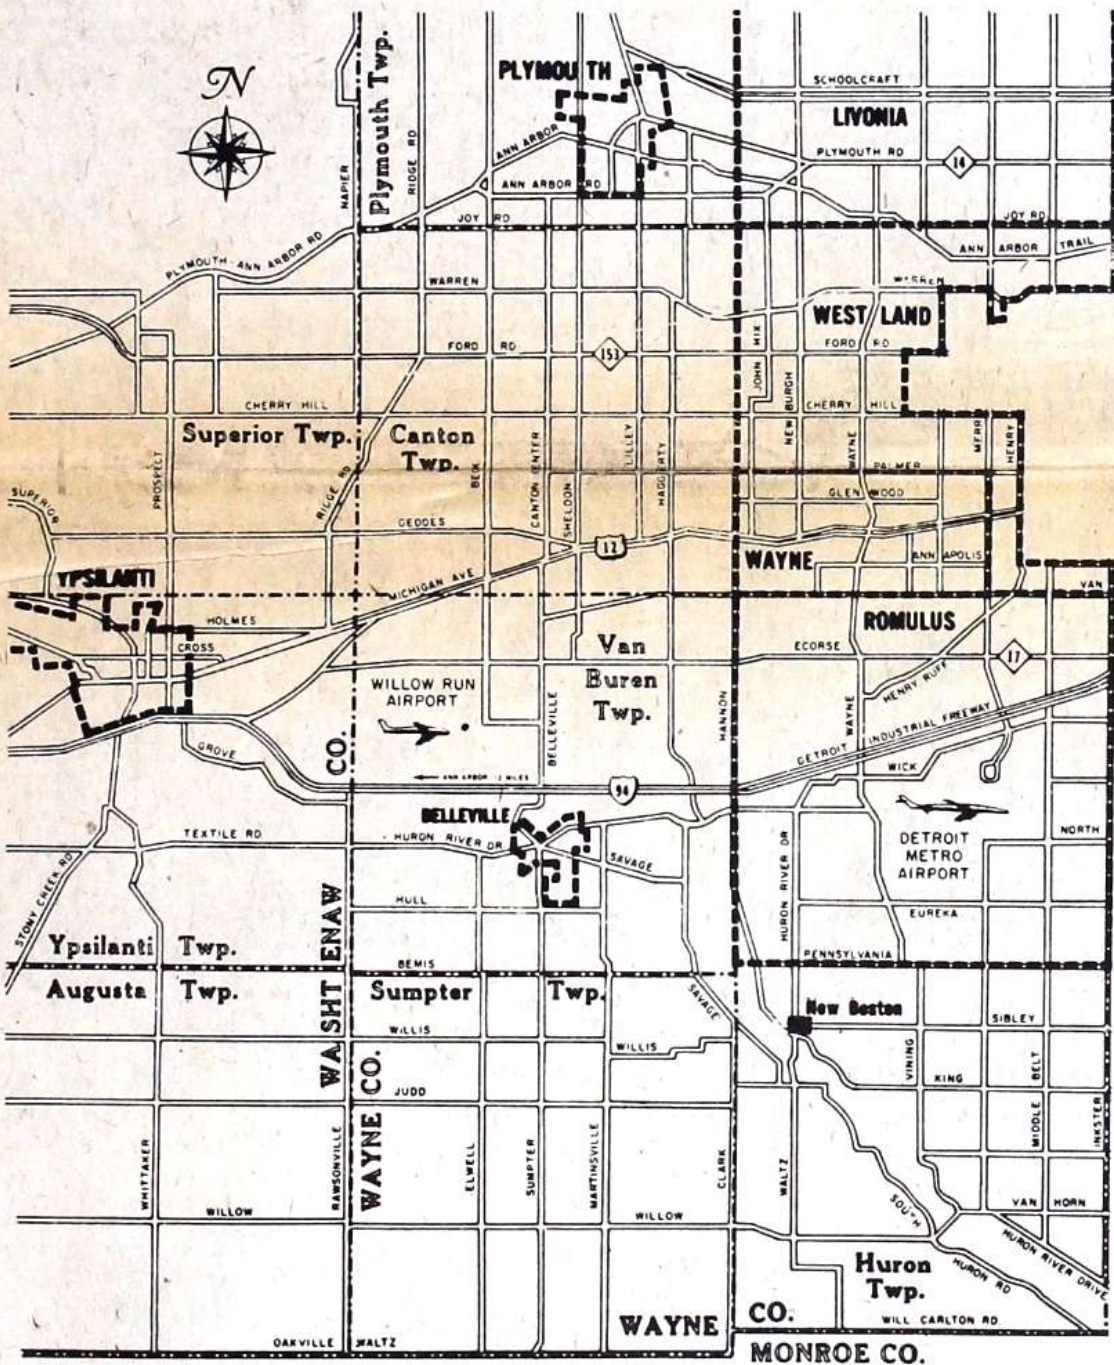

A complete inventory of parts and accessories for foreign and domestic cars is available at KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster! We offer fast, knowledgeable counter service, and our friendly staff will be happy to help you select the proper parts for your particular car. Known as the "House of a Million Parts", we carry everything from mufflers to fan belts. Ask about our expert machine shop service where we do all kinds of repair service! Call us at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., and on Saturdays until 5 P.M.

AUTO HINT:
In some states an insurance punch card must be kept in the car at all times. Be sure to check your state regulations.

$25,000 RECIPE

Sixty thousand entries were received in the 1976 Pillsbury Bake-Off Contest. 49 of this year's 100 finalists were repeaters. Lois Ann Groves, one of the two $25,000 grand prize winners selected Tuesday, Aug. 31, in Boston has been a finalist three times. She competed every year, and this year she won $25,000 for the following recipe:

CRESCENT CARAMEL SWIRL

- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons water
- 2 cans (8 oz. each) Pillsbury Refrigerated Quick Crescent Dinner Rolls

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. (350 degrees F. for colored fluted tube pan). In small saucepan, melt butter. (Do not use pan with removable bottom.) Coat bottom and sides of 12-cup fluted tube pan with 2 tablespoons of the melted butter; sprinkle pan with 3 tablespoons of the nuts. Add remaining nuts, brown sugar and water to butter; heat to boiling, stirring occasionally. Remove crescents from cans in rolled sections; do not unroll. Cut each section into four slices. Arrange eight slices in prepared pan, separating each pinwheel slightly to allow sauce to penetrate. Spoon half the caramel sauce over dough. Repeat with remaining dough, topping slices in pan; pour remaining caramel sauce over dough. Bake 25 to 30 minutes (30 to 35 minutes for colored fluted tube pan) until deep golden brown. Cool three minutes; turn onto serving platter or waxed paper. 10-inch ring coffee cake.
